The Fox Cities Were Ready for, but happily missed, the snow-removal problem being tackled by many other residents of Wisconsin today. David Reitmeyer makes the snow fly as he digs his car out from snow which fell through the night in Milwaukee. The fall measured up to 10 inches. Rep. Smith Dies in Hospital After He Collapses in Cafe

Death Apparently Due to Heart Attack, Aides Say

Washington — Rep. Lawrence H. Smith, 65, Wisconsin Republican, collapsed and died today.

Smith was the fourth member of congress to die this year. He collapsed as he entered the house restaurant with a guest and was rushed to Walter Reed Army hospital, where he was pronounced dead shortly after arrival.

Aides said death was "supposedly of a heart attack." Smith suffered such an attack several years ago.

Smith fell to the floor of the house restaurant. Mrs. Smith hurried to his side from the house office building and Dr. George Calver, the capitol physician, ordered adrenalin administered.

Other Deaths

Reps. Keeney (R-Ill.) and Andressen (R-Minn.) and Sen. Neely (D-W.Va.) have died this year. The flags atop capitol buildings have been at half-staff since Keeney's death on Jan. 12.

Smith represented Wisconsin's First district, consisting of Green, Kenosha, Racine, Rock and Walworth counties.

A native of Racine, he received his early education in elementary schools of Racine and at Milwaukee University.

He attended Milwaukee State Teachers college for two years, then enrolled at Marquette university. He was graduated from the Marquette law school in 1923 and since that time has been a practicing attorney at Racine.

During the first World War Smith served in the 32nd Infantry division. He was Wisconsin department commander of the American Legion in 1938 and 1939. He also was a past president of the Racine County Bar association.

In a special election in August, 1941, he was elected to congress to fill a vacancy caused by the death of Rep. Stephen Bolles, and was reelected successively.

Urges Nation To Face Future, Get Job Done

Texas Congressman Wants Quick Action To Surpass Russia

Washington — Rep. Mahon (D-Texas) said today the nation should "face the future and get on with the job" of surpassing Russian missile and satellite gains.

Mahon, chairman of the house defense appropriations subcommittee, talked with newsmen as the house called up for expected unanimous passage a $1,410,000,000 money bill to help speed U. S. defense preparations.

The total includes the full $1,260,000,000 in new funds asked by President Eisenhower and authority to transfer another $150 million—$40 million more than Eisenhower asked—of available funds to missiles and other new programs.

Debt Limit Debate Waits

The house schedule calls for passage of the money bill late today unless a roll call vote is demanded. That would put it off until tomorrow. Because some members were absent on official business, the house had agreed to take no roll call votes until Thursday this week.

The agreement delayed final house action yesterday on a bill to raise the legal limit on the national debt to $260 billion. The present limit is $275 billion, and the debt is approaching that figure.

The proposal was attacked during debate yesterday, but the house shouted down one move aimed at holding the increase to $3 billion.

Rep. Martin (Mass.), house Republican leader, urged Republican members "not to put our own administration in a straitjacket" by rejecting the increase.

"We must face the fact that we have realities to consider," Martin said in reference to expected increases in defense costs.

Rep. Byrnes (R-Wis.) contended the boost would encourage more spending. Rep. Macdonald (R-Ill.), agreeing, blamed the high debt level on "both the New Deal spenders and the Modern Republican spenders."

Rep. Gross (R-Iowa), referring to the treasury's contention it needs more flexibility in managing the debt, said that don. Many villages were isolated by the flex-lated and traffic in Dover years to come."

Gov. Thomson last June 3 called a special election to fill the vacancy created a month earlier by the death of Sen. Joseph McCarthy. Sen. Proxmire, Democrat, was elected Aug. 27 to serve the remaining 16 months of McCarthy's term.

Gov. Thomson, notified of Smith's death, said he would withhold any announcements about his plans in connection with the vacancy until after Smith's funeral "in deference to the family of the deceased."

He said he would issue a statement later.

Kenosha Reports 13 Inches, Milwaukee 8; Fox Cities Not Affected by Storm

A heavy blanket of snow suffocated traffic in the southeastern part of the state Tuesday and left six persons dead. The worst storm in years dumped as much as 13 inches of snow.

Kenosha was staggered by 13 inches. Racine had 11 inches and Milwaukee, 8; Lake Geneva, 7; Pewaukee, 5; Cedarburg, 6; Monroe, 5; Beloit, 4; Port Washington, 2, and Madison, 1.

The Fox Cities experienced no precipitation during the last 24-hour period. It was cloudy this morning, but the forecaster did not see any snow for the next 24-hour period.

Worst in 46 Years

A frigid paralysis still grips the Kansas-Missouri area today, where the worst blizzard in 46 years dumped up to 15 inches of snow and left 17 dead in Kansas, Missouri, Iowa and Illinois.

Weathermen say the heavy snows that caused emergency conditions in southeastern Wisconsin Tuesday were a part of the earlier storm farther south.

The snow in the state, swirling and drifting on brisk winds, began shortly after dawn Tuesday and continued past midnight.

All six deaths were in Milwaukee and were attributed to heart attacks caused by shoveling snow.

The victims were Percy Redding, 62; Harry Butzlaff, 49; Clarence Davis, 51; Edward Greifenhagen, 58; William Butz, 64; and David DeMars, 67.

Three vehicles, stalled on tracks in scattered areas, were demolished by trains. The drivers escaped uninjured.

A truck driven by Harold Slotter, 34, of Lake Geneva, stalled on Milwaukee road tracks in Kenosha county trunk K. Slotter ran down the tracks to stop the southbound mail train, but the crew was unable to stop in time. The truck was demolished.

Earl Erno, 35, of Milwaukee, jumped from his car after it stalled on North Western tracks on the northwest side of Milwaukee. The car was badly damaged by a freight train.

At Oconomowoc, Russell Kleinhans fled from his auto as a 85-mile an hour Milwaukee road passenger train approached. Parts of the auto were scattered for 275 feet along the track.

School Buses Stalled

Two buses filled with schoolchildren were stalled late Tuesday. One was caught in heavy drifts on the south side of Milwaukee. Motorists rescued the youngsters and took them to their homes. The other bus bogged down near Sturtevant in Racine county. The youngsters were sheltered in a nearby farm home.

The Milton Union and Orfordville schools in Rock county were closed today.

Classes at Monroe High school were dismissed at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon to allow rural students to reach their homes before roads closed. Rural schools in the area were closed today.

Bandits Take $50,000 In Jewels and Money From Miami Beach Hotel

Miami Beach, Fla. — Bandits took $50,000 in gems and cash from safe deposit boxes stuffed with guests' cash and jewels at a resort hotel today after threatening two night clerks and shutting them in a washroom.

"I'm sure there was at least $50,000 in cash and jewelry in the boxes," said Louis Koren, owner of the 100-room King Cole-Northshore hotel.

The night clerks, John Barzol, 50, and Joseph Stearns, 40, said a man in his late twenties entered the hotel around 4:30 a. m.

"This fellow had a flesh colored plastic mask over his nose and the lower part of his face," said Stearns. "A hat was pulled down over his eyes and he was carrying a snub nose gun."

After Barzol and Stearns were forced into a washroom, they said they heard other people assisting the bandit they saw.

An examination revealed that the thieves opened 35 boxes at the front desk and five more inside the general offices of the hotel.

Reuther Presses for Profit-Sharing Plan Asked About Secret Report

Invites GM President to Offer Proposals to Delegates

Detroit — Walter P. Reuther today is staking his reputation as a labor leader who does the unusual by going before a special convention of the United Auto Workers union with a revolutionary profit-sharing plan for the auto industry.

In a surprise move on the eve of the convention, Reuther invited General Motors President Harlow H. Curtice to appear as a speaker before the convention either today or tomorrow and tell the delegates how to shape their bargaining demands.

There was no immediate reply from Curtice.

Reuther messaged Curtice, "We can assure you of a courteous hearing, and you may take as much time as may be required to set forth your position in detail."

Curtice Scored Plan

Reuther noted that Curtice last week had termed the UAW's new bargaining plan "wholly unrealistic" and also had expressed hope the convention "will recognize the economic realities and adopt a sound policy."

Reuther told Curtice the delegates "are free agents."

The UAW president, in an off-the-cuff keynote speech, was ready to ask 3,000 delegates representing the union's 11 million members to ratify his plan to have the big car manufacturers share profits with workers.

Acceptance by the convention of Reuther's new collective bargaining program in 1958 contract negotiations appeared certain. The convention will vote on it either late today or tomorrow.

The convention is made up of the same delegates who re-elected Reuther by acclamation at the regular convention in Atlantic City last April.

Reuther is expected to have no trouble controlling a minority faction that favors retaining the short work week with increased take-home pay as the union's top bargaining objective.

A comparatively small faction led by Carl Stellato, president of the 45,000-member local at the Ford Rouge plant, insists a shorter work week will help solve the unemployment problem in the auto industry, particularly in the Detroit area.

Reuther surprised both industrial and labor leaders 10 days ago by announcing that this is not the time to plug for a shorter work week. He said he changed his mind about bargaining goals last year when the Russians put up their sputniks.

Secretary of Defense McElroy and his chief deputy, Donald A. Quarles, were asked to appear before the senate preparedness subcommittee for closed-door questioning.

Chairman Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Texas) brought the military attack strategy into a public hearing briefly yesterday by quoting from the report and asking a comment on it by retired Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, then testifying.

Against "Preventive War"

Nimitz made it clear in reply that he was opposed to "the idea of preventive war."

Johnson quickly agreed and said the committee also was opposed to it.

The quoted portion of the report made no mention of preventive war, and the reference to attack strategy apparently emphasized strategic planning and capability rather than any direct attack.

Some U.S. military leaders have come near to suggesting that this nation should not permit Russia to decide when and where a future war should begin. But basic defense policy of the United States has been that the nation will defend but never start a war.

Without identifying the source, Johnson read from a bulky volume these recommendations:

"The United States would not survive on the basis of a purely defensive policy of massive and graduated deterrents. These will at best hold the strong terrain."

With 256 of the district's 270 precincts reported, Dent polled 39,129 votes to 29,786 for his Republican opponent, Herbert Morrison, a Pittsburgh radio newscaster and a borough councilman in Scottsdale.

Dent said his election "proves that the people of the entire country are solely dissatisfied with our management on a national scale and with our internal and external problems."

Curfew Ordered in Caracas

Venezuela Troops Ordered To Shoot Down Any Rioters

Caracas — A dusk-to-dawn curfew was in effect in Caracas today and government troops were ordered to fire on anyone disturbing the peace after an outbreak of rioting and shooting during a general strike.

Reports reaching Washington said 20 persons were killed, Los Teques, Valencia and 100 injured in street fighting in a workers' area of Caracas yesterday. They said 1,000 persons were arrested after the clash. Strict censorship prevailed.

Constant Tension

The U. S. state department said there were no reports of any Americans being injured or American property damaged.

About 40,000 Americans live in Venezuela and U.S. investments there total about $3 billion.

The strike was called by underground opponents of President Marcos Perez Jimenez, who three weeks ago survived a short-lived revolt by the air force and some army units.

Since then Caracas has been in without there having prevailed a continual state of tension any political objective except the indiscriminate desire to rob.

The interior ministry claimed the people had not responded to the general strike call. In a nationwide broadcast the ministry conceded there had been "disorders and offenses" in Caracas and disturbances in several persons responsible for agitation.

Guard Power Plants

A 6 p. m. to 5 a. m. curfew was placed on metropolitan Caracas. Military units patrolling the capital "have orders to fire on any element that tries to hurt property or persons in any way," the government broadcast said.

Steel-helmeted soldiers armed with rifles guarded power plants, radio stations, communications centers and other key points in Caracas.

Officials were reported anxiously watching the oil fields near the capital. It was widely believed that oil wells and pipelines might be closed if the strike or in fear of violence.

No Decision On Vacancy

Thomson Can Call Special Election or Leave Post Unfilled

Madison — The secretary of state's office said today Gov. Thomson can either leave the post created by the death of Rep. Lawrence Smith, Racine, or call a special election.

Almost half of his 2-year term still remains.

Gaige Roberts, director of the elections division of the secretary of state's office, said there is time between now and the April 1 elections for the governor to meet statutory requirements connected with calling a special election.

He said the law passed by the 1957 legislature authorizing the governor to make appointments to fill U. S. senate vacancies does not affect the procedure for members of the house of representatives.

Gov. Thomson last June 3 called a special election to fill the vacancy created a month earlier by the death of Sen. Joseph McCarthy. Sen. Proxmire, Democrat, was elected Aug. 27 to serve the remaining 16 months of McCarthy's term.

Gov. Thomson, notified of Smith's death, said he would withhold any announcements about his plans in connection with the vacancy until after Smith's funeral "in deference to the family of the deceased."

Senate Committee Approves Rogers

Washington — The senate judiciary committee today approved President Eisenhower's nomination of William P. Rogers to be attorney general.

Chairman Eastland (D-Miss.) told newsmen the committee had recommended "without objection" that the senate confirm the nomination. The senate may act tomorrow.

MOTHERS' MARCH AGAINST POLIO
TOMORROW NIGHT --- 6 to 7:30

Maybe, when you grow up, you won't have to use crutches. Maybe you will. Let's face it, paralytic polio is a devastating crippler whose cruel marks are still borne by hundreds of thousands of boys and girls, men and women. But you have the inalienable American right to hope for something better, and there is a good solid basis for your hopes. Doctors know many new ways to salvage human resources, and even more wonderful techniques now are being developed in March of Dimes studies... You need help and you will get it. The same Americans whose gifts built the shield of protection known as the Salk vaccine will see to it that MODERN rehabilitation becomes an effective weapon against the scars already inflicted by crippling polio. They will join the 1958 March of Dimes because—

City Is Assured Of One Race in April Election

Two More Developing
As Deadline Nears
For Filing Papers

Kaukauna — With less than a week remaining to file nomination papers for the April 1 election, only one race is assured and two are pending, according to Karl E. Merz, city clerk.

A total of 17 offices are to be filled in the election. Seven candidates have filed papers, 13 candidates are still circulating papers and one office still has no candidate.

The office of city attorney currently held by John Elser who was appointed by the council to fill the unexpired term of the late Harry McAndrews, is the only office not having a candidate.

Fourth Ward Races

The only definite race is in the Fourth ward where John Corcoran, incumbent county supervisor, and Frank Walsh both have returned signed nomination papers. A third candidate for the post of county supervisor began circulating papers Monday afternoon. He is Robert Clayton Van Dyke, 328 E. Eighteenth street.

A second race in the Fourth ward is likely as Gilbert Anderson, incumbent, and Phillip Voights are both circulating papers for the post of alderman.

The final race is likely in the Fifth ward where Fred Reichel is seeking reelection as alderman while he is opposed by Alvin R. Newlin. Both men are still circulating nomination papers.

Candidates who have filed nomination papers include May-Joseph Bayorgeon; Miss Ruth Wolf, city treasurer; Lott Kemp, city assessor; Bert Roberts, first ward alderman; and Theodore Barbier, county ed he was supervisor from the first ward, signing to resign.

Persons still circulating papers are Karl Marzahl, city clerk; Marshall Bayorgeon and Dr. George Behnke, school board members; Earl Luedtke, second ward alderman; George Simon, third ward alderman; Jacob Weyenberg, second ward county supervisor; Matt J. Verfurth, third ward county supervisor, and Russell De La Hunt, fifth ward county supervisor.

Guest Night by Local Chorus Attracts 30 Men

Kaukauna — The Kaukauna-Little Chute chapter of the SPEBSQSA, Inc., held its annual guest night Monday evening at the St. John's school auditorium, Little Chute, with about 30 guests present.

Guests were given the opportunity to sing with the Kaukauna-Korders and heard songs by the Star Tones, a high school quartet from Shawano, the Harmonites, from Appleton, and the Four Flats, Note-Ables, and No-Namers, all from the Kaukauna-Little Chute chapter.

Special guests at the meeting included Bill Reick, area counselor from Appleton; Dan Waschek, vice president of inter-chapter relations from Green Bay, and Del Bradford, director of the Appleton chapter chorus.

Sand, Salt for Walks
Available at Kimberly
Commissioner Reminds

Kimberly — Street commissioner Eugene Hietpas said Tuesday sand and salt for sidewalks is available at the municipal garage.

Hietpas said residents need only stop at the garage with a container of their own and they will be given sand and salt free of charge.

The commissioner also reminded residents the village has an ordinance that requires the shoveling of sidewalks with- in 24 hours after a storm. If a meeting of the Combined Sidewalks are not shovelled by the village crew, residents will be fined $10.00.

The loss of it makes it possible for other teams to over- take the leaders. Other results showed Hope Goetzman's team Chuck Schmitt, 129; Hope Hil- breaking even with a team genberg, 127; Pat Coleman, day captured by Lee Jacobs, 127 and Judy Perkins, 125.

Lance Goetzman's team win- ning two from Athlym Andrews' team. Alice Weyers' team; win- ning two from Ken Jankowicz, Rog- 10 by Carol Ashauer and the turned in at the meeting, officials announced.

Forester Court to Meet Thursday Night

Little Chute — There will be a meeting of the Catholic Order of Forester court at 7:30 Thurs- day evening at the Forester hall.

Entry blanks for the Fox Val- ley Forester Bowling meet to be held at DePere should be turned in at the meeting, officials announced.

PTA Units Discuss Ways to Curb Juvenile Delinquency

Kaukauna — Family cohesive- ness, recognition of the child as an individual and the teaching of unchanging truths through religious experience are of primary importance in the prevention of juvenile delinquency, according to panel- Bruno, director of the Apple- ton YMCA; Lt. Robert Main, joint meeting of Park and Vic- olet school PTA Monday eve- ning.

Verne Imhoff, director of the University of Wisconsin Extension center, Menasha, moder- ated the panel in attempting to mon set of standards within a community, such as an agree- ment among parents on the hours children were expected to keep, was desirable.

Individual Comments
McCorison discussed the home factor and emphasized the need for both love and discipline along with understand- ing. The Rev. Mr. Scheib spoke on the role of the church, point- ing to the need for home, school and church working together for a common goal. The pri- mary function of the church is the teaching of character, ac- cording to the pastor.

Schmidt discussed paradoxes confronting the educator such as the need for a teacher to enforce discipline while permit- ting the child freedom to de- velop. Bruno talked on the part played by recreational agen- cies in building the child stressing particularly the YM- CA's father-son program. Lt. Main explained how children's first contacts with police officers may strongly influence later reaction to police and their role in society.

Delap spoke on the need for individual consideration of chil- dren and quoted a statement giving as a cure for juvenile delinquency, the existence of adult decency.

The audience discussed the influence of television and comic books on creating delinquen- cy but Imhoff stated research on the subject did not substan- tiate the belief that criminal behavior was brought about by exposure to such media.

Deadlock in Kimberly Loop For 4th Time

Dud's Inn, Bill's Bar Post Identical Record of 8-4

Kimberly — For the fourth time this season Bill's Bar and Dud's Inn are tied for the league lead in the Village Basketball loop at Kimberly.

In the last round of games, Dud's came from behind to score a 41 to 37 victory over Bill's and caused the tie with an 8-4 record.

In the second tilt Vic's Hillside Bar tipped White's Bar 56 to 51.

Games on tap tonight find Bill's meeting Vic's at 7 o'clock at the clubhouse court and at 8 o'clock Dud's will tangle with White's.

Bill's took a 10 to 5 lead over Dud's in the first period but Dud's bounced back in the second quarter to score 14 points while holding Bill's to 5.

Mulry Hits 11

In the third period Dud's counted nine points while the losers had eight. The fourth period saw Bill's come back with 14 but Dud's scored 13 to keep its 4-point margin intact.

Dick Mulry and Dick Verbeeten shared the scoring honors for Dud's as each had 11 points.

For Bill's Tom Dupont had 11 and Gene Peerenboom counted 10.

Vic's took a 10 to 8 lead over White's in the first quarter and stayed out in front the rest of the way. The halftime score was 24 to 21.

Vic's got hot in the third frame and pushed through 19 points while White's was held to 15. The losers outscored Vic's 15 to 13 in the fourth quarter.

Bob Wahlers was high for Vic's with 16 points on seven field goals and a pair of free throws. For White's Gossens and Smits each scored 11.

212-622 Set Pace in Sherwood Couples' Loop

Sherwood — Ed Eiting rapped games of 212, 211 in a 622 series to walk off with individual honors in the Sherwood Couples' league at Miller's Bowling bar.

Team honors went to Ribarck — Eiting with a 705 game and a 2,079 series. The honor team also swept three games from Wachuta-Holcomb to hold first place.

St. Mary's '5' Tips Lutheran

Winners Hold Second Place by Virtue of 32 to 23 Decision

Kaukauna — St. Mary's grade cagers stayed in the running for the City Grade Basketball league crown by rolling to a 32 to 23 win over Trinity Lutheran in their last outing.

St. Mary's has a record of three wins and one defeat while Holy Cross, league leaders, have three wins and no losses, having played one less game.

Trinity Lutheran is in third place with one win and two setbacks while Park school has lost four straight.

The winners took a slim 7-6 lead over Trinity in the first quarter and at halftime had increased the lead to 12-9.

Lutheran rallied slightly in the third quarter to close the gap to 18-16 but were unable to keep up the pace and fell behind badly in the final period.

Bill Van Dyke led St. Mary's with 16 points followed by Carl Vanden Heuvel and Rich Vils with six each. Jerry Spaulding led Lutheran with 13 points followed by Jim Zuelzke with four.

A preliminary game saw the undefeated St. Mary's B squad run up a 26 to 20 win over the Lutheran Bees. Paul Lemke of Trinity led both teams in scoring with 12 points while Ron Straus and Gary Weigman led the winners with eight points each.

Chuters Play At Premontre Thursday Night

Seek Revenge for Earlier Loss to Green Bay Team

Little Chute — Following a narrow win over Lourdes of Marinette, the St. John High school basketball team will try to improve its Fox Valley Catholic conference record by playing at Premontre Green Bay Thursday night.

The win over Lourdes boosted the Chuters above the .500 mark with a record of 3-2. St. John holds third place. Premontre and St. Mary's Menasha are tied for first with 4-1 marks.

Premontre has scored several narrow wins this season over conference foes including a 49 to 36 victory over St. John on the Dutchmen court in the first part of the campaign.

St. John was in the thick of the fight most of the way in the first game but faded in the last quarter when bad passes proved costly.

Tim Tousey Out

The Chuters will be without the services of No. 1 reserve Tim Tousey for the second straight game. Tousey wrenched his back working out on the trampoline and missed the Lourdes game last week. Tim is the fifth highest scorer on the team despite the fact that he has seen only reserve roles.

Premontre is led by veterans Ron Bertagnoli and Jim Fabry. Don Hermesen at guards, Lyle Bertagnoli, a tall center, also is a fine rebounder. Fabry operates from a guard post and at forwards.

Planners Asked to Study KHS Frosh Will Trailer Camp Ordinance Battle Wilson For Third Place

Aldermen Suggest General Meeting To Assist Commission in Project

Kaukauna — The planning commission was given the job of clarifying the city's trailer camp ordinance by the council Tuesday night.

Kenneth Van Elzen asked the aldermen for the clarification. The aldermen suggested scheduling a general meeting of the citizens had the idea of a chief of police, health office, aldermen and residents to assist the commission in its earlier study.

Van Elzen seeks to operate a trailer camp in a residential area north of Highway 41, adjacent to a light industrial zone area which is occupied by a motel.

He told the council he would like to operate his camp efficiently to prevent the area from becoming rundown and a detriment to the community. Some aldermen expressed fear such a condition would be the future of the camp.

Other Action

In other action the council granted a class B retail beer and liquor license to Eloy Vanevenhoven and issued electrician's licenses to Raymond Hacker and William Maynard.

Three applications for work were placed on file and council members voted to transfer does most of the playmaking for the cadets.

Starters for St. John will include Noel Vanden Heuvel and Don Hermesen at guards, Lyle Bertagnoli, a tall center, also is a fine rebounder. Fabry operates from a guard post and at forwards.

Both Teams Have Won Two, Lost Three in Conference Action

Kaukauna — The Kaukauna High school Frosh cagers will attempt to regain their winning ways on the home floor here at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon entertaining Wilson of Appleton.

The game shapes up as a battle for third place in league standings as both teams have records of two wins and three setbacks and currently are directly behind Menasha and Kimberly, the co-leaders with records of five wins and no defeats.

The two teams have met five common opponents with Wilson showing the better against all foes both in scoring and defense. Kimberly topped Wilson 46 to 35 and rolled to a 48-19 win over Kaukauna. Menasha downed Wilson 35-26 and rolled over Kaukauna 67-27. Both teams defeated Neenah. Wilson by a 43-29 score and Kaukauna by a 32-29 margin. Roosevelt tipped Wilson 41-33 but lost to Kaukauna 38-36. The reverse cropped up in the McKinley contest which saw Wilson take a 35-21 win while the Junior Ghosts dropped a 35-21 test.

Likely Starters

Coach Guy Krumm is expected to open with his regular five which includes Ken Kavanagh, Dennis Priebe, Gene LaBorde, Steve Mayer and John Vanden Heuvel. Other boys usually breaking into the Kaukauna line-up are Jim Schumann, Bill Vander Pas, Bruce Bay and John Borree.

Probable starters for Wilson will be Pete Kafura, Jack Reilly, Carlton Voss, Marty Schultz and Allen Turkow.

Youth Center Fund Drive Nets $783.16

Kaukauna — Teenage members of the Kaukauna Youth Center toured the city Sunday afternoon collecting funds in their annual drive and garnered a total of $783.16, about $100 over the amount collected in any previous year.

The house to house campaign took about two hours with approximately 75 members taking part. Money raised is used to purchase recreational equipment for the center and for general operating purposes.

Sunday's drive is the only neighborhood campaign to be held, but a letter solicitation drive will continue for the next few weeks. Letters telling of the work being carried on at the Center and the need for funds.

Kimberly — Eunice Reider slammed a 186 game and 466 series for the high scores in the Ladies league at Van's alleys.

The Kimberly Motors team rolled the high team counts with a one game mark of 784 and series high of 2,305.

Clover Farm Store still leads the league with a 36-12 record while Dud's Inn is second, seven full games off the pace.

In the only other high count Lucy Vander Zanden hit a 175 lien. Carlton Voss, Marty Schultz and Allen Turkow.

New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, bloot or gripe

Most constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that loses so much moisture that its contents become so dry they block the bowel; so shrunken they fail to stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to S-T-R-E-T-C-H stimulate colon to action; to a normal urge to purge. And, of all laxatives, only new COLONAM, possesses its great moistening capacity plus its stretch-stimulating bulk. So effective it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, yet is so gentle it has been hospital proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy.

Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONAM neither gags, bloats nor gripes; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins or food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions.

A Senate Candidate

Lawrence J. Fitzpatrick of Madison is organizing a campaign for the Republican nomination for United States senator from Wisconsin. Mr. Fitzpatrick evidently has some professional public relations advisors who have persuaded him that there are elaborate gimmicks required to confide his aspirations to the voters. Currently, for example, there is publicity coming from a committee that purports to exist to "draft" him. Actually, Mr. Fitzpatrick's eagerness to run for this high office is just about as apparent as his lack of excuse for doing so, to date.

We have been told that the party needs a "new face," and that Mr. Fitzpatrick's fits that test. It surely does.

We are reminded that other men have risen to high place in Wisconsin lately without much previous service or demonstration of public capacity in public place. That is true also, although it is the exception rather than the rule. Most of the men Wisconsin has sent to the seat to which Mr. Fitzpatrick now aspires have had some previous acquaintance with governmental affairs, through direct responsibility and performance.

Tightening Up on Expense Accounts

Rather late in 1957 the Internal Revenue Bureau served notice on taxpayers of the nation that it would require better reporting of expense accounts than it had in the past. Persons with expenses to deduct from income have not neglected their accounts, it was those who have been receiving liberal expense allowances who were put on notice.

The idea was that perhaps some had received more than they actually spent, and therefore should have reported the surplus as income and have paid taxes on it. There was immediate and widespread protest over the order. It was claimed that since such an accounting had not been required in the past, no one had kept track of expenses and it would be difficult if not impossible to meet the new rule. In view of the protests, the government withdrew the order for 1957, but has reissued it for 1958.

The department is now stepping up its drive against abuses in the business-expense field. Right on the front page of the income tax return is a line designated as 6 (A) which may be ignored this year, but next year it will be necessary to fill it in. It will tell at a glance how much the taxpayer received in expense money on which he did not pay taxes. If the sum is suspiciously large, it will be investigated.

Target of this drive are those persons who are making a good thing out of liberal expense accounts. Some corporations have found it to their advantage to

Yet this eager young man appears personable enough. He is a successful Madison lumber wholesaler. He has had some success in civic enterprises in the capital city. Because he has all the appearance of a good citizen, we would offer him some friendly advice.

There is nothing objectionable in political ambition — even when it involves a proposed leap to the lofty office of United States senator by a man who has never before served even on a town board or the local library commission.

But such ambitions must be accompanied by a reasonably aware political position. Where does Mr. Fitzpatrick stand on the issues of the day? His publicity has been appearing for some months, but he has been curiously silent in a time when public issues upon which public men ought to want to speak abound. The candidate must communicate with the voters — and communicate more than a mere desire to hold high office. A hundred thousand men may share that appetite with Mr. Fitzpatrick, without a scintilla of support for its gratification.

reward some employees with vacation trips and almost unbelievable expense allowances for the entertainment of out-of-town customers. The employees made no accounting of such receipts and the corporation deducted them as an expense of doing business.

Some fantastic claims have been disallowed. Among them are claims of "business" trips to the world series, grocery bills — on the claim that the taxpayer's wife often met important business contacts while shopping — a wedding, an annulment, and of course all manner of luxuries such as swimming pools.

The rules are being changed and there appears to be no settled policy as yet. In general, however, all ordinary and necessary expenses of doing business will be allowed. Such items as entertainment not related to the taxpayer's job or membership in a country club may be looked at with some suspicion. However, expenses which can be shown to have increased business may be allowed even though they are most unusual. The New York Times recently reported the case of a dairyman and his wife who deducted the costs of an African safari. The films they shot during the trip were used in an advertising campaign for the dairy. Free tickets were handed out with each quart of milk. The Internal Revenue Service objected to the claim but the United States Tax Court upheld much of the claim. As usual nothing is certain about income taxes.

The Right to Travel

The Supreme Court, at its present session, will finally get several cases to determine just what constitutional right an American has to travel abroad and what limitations may be placed upon that travel by the State Department. The issue has been argued for several years but has never reached the highest court in the land.

The State Department uses an 1856 statute which gives the Secretary of State the authority "to grant and issue passports." In 1941 Congress passed a law making it a crime for anyone to leave the country without a passport during a state of emergency. Such a provision is still in effect.

However, those who have been denied passports have argued that the due process clause of the Fifth Amendment makes such denial unconstitutional. In 1951 a court in the District of Columbia upheld the argument that a hearing was necessary if demanded when a passport was denied. This came in the case of Bauer vs. Acheson which concerned the procedural interpretation of the due process clause that such denial could not be made without a hearing. But the United States Court of Appeals also held that, while the hearing was required, the State Department could base its opposition upon secret information without giving sources. In the case of Schachtman vs. Dulles, the Court of Appeals further held in 1955 that the right to travel was upheld substantively by the Fifth Amendment but that the Secretary of State could restrict it in the interests of national security.

The substantive argument is based upon the protection of the Fifth Amendment to liberty without regard to process. Attorneys for Rockwell Kent and Dr. William Briehl have argued that the State Department has authority to issue the passports but cannot constitutionally deny them.

The separate cases have at issue on the one hand, whether testimony of a secret nature makes a hearing qualify as due process, and on the other, whether the State Department can deny a passport for political beliefs in any case.

The Supreme Court in various years has ruled differently about the rights of government under wartime or emergency conditions. Confiscation of property was declared unconstitutional after the Civil War but upheld as legal as a war power. Certainly the internment of Japanese-Americans during World War II was a substantive denial of the Fifth Amendment but the argument is that it was justified because of our state of war. The present court, while heavily imbued with social demands of the times, has been leaning lately in close decisions away from government control and to the rights of individuals. Few want to take a guess as to how they will rule in these cases.

Urges Qualified People to Run for Office

Editor, Post-Crescent:

It is important for the citizens of Appleton to use their influence in urging qualified men and women to run for office in the spring election. Last year many of the aldermen and supervisors running for office were unopposed. This means citizens from their wards could not feel that they had a real choice in selecting the man or woman best qualified for the position.

The offices to be filled in the spring election April 1 are those of mayor, city clerk, city treasurer, city assessor, city attorney, two school commissioners, ten aldermen from even-numbered wards, and supervisors from the 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 11th, 12th, 14th, 15th, 16th, 17th, 18th and 20th wards and the second precinct.

An alderman or supervisor does not need detailed technical knowledge. It is more important that he understands municipal problems, that he look at his leadership in making effective policies. These same qualities are desirable for school commissioner and other offices.

Nomination papers for city offices are available at the city clerk's office, and for county offices at the county clerk's office. You will be told by the respective clerk how many signatures are required on the nomination papers. Nomination papers must be filed by Jan. 28 at 5 p. m.

Urge people who are well qualified to seek election.

This Draft Dodger Apparently Is Dodging Life's Responsibilities, Too

BY GEORGE SOKOLSKY
(Copyright, 1958)

A draft-dodger is a fellow who breaks the law willfully, and often because he fears to fulfill the law. He is afraid of death. There have been conscientious objectors who declined to kill but who undertook the bravest services at the front, who displayed courage and patriotism of a high quality.

Here comes a letter from a reader who pronounces himself to be a draft-dodger and is proud of it. He says: "In the first place, the 'increasing' number of draft-dodgers is not appalling, it is most heartening, especially to one in that younger generation which has been so justly accused by the pre-Roosevelt generation as having no guts."

He says that he has guts, as he calls it. He says that there is an increasing number of Americans "including myself who are not convinced that a duty to serve one's country necessarily implies a duty to serve one's government."

No Distinction
Truly I cannot understand what he is talking about. There can be no distinction in the United States between the people and the government. Our government is not imposed upon us from outside. It is not hereditary. It is chosen at short intervals by the people of the United States who vote in free, secret elections and choose representative officials in accordance with the constitution. All acts of government arise from legislation in congress, both houses of which are chosen by the people. Therefore the government and people are one as is stipulated in the constitution which begins with the words, "We the people of the United States."

My correspondent writes to me: "In voluntarily foregoing a sheltered existence in a glorified boy's camp, I have been forced to hit the road to escape imprisonment; drifting from one skid-row to another, and living that hand-to-mouth existence which, besides death, is the only existence open to those who have not, or dare not use the union card, the social security number and the other credentials of regimented living."

This sounds very good but what does it prove? My memory goes back to World War I when many Americans were pro-German and were unwilling to go to war in a cause which they believed to be unjust. Many organized themselves into societies to keep this country out of war, but some of them discovered that the societies were actually being managed by persons in the kaiser's employ. They discovered that instead of pursuing their consciences freely, they had been tricked into treason. There was less of that during World War II. I cannot imagine why this correspondent needed to land on skid-row unless he preferred to find a life in some beneficial activity as other conscientious objectors have done. This may be one isolated instance of bad judgment, or is it? Can we fight a totally disciplined nation with even a small part of our citizenship thinking as illogically as this correspondent who is not only literate but educated? But what could have produced this in any American mind?

Occasionally Wonders
"But sometimes when I'm broke and hungry, when I'm cold and wet, I wonder if perhaps, in choosing a precarious freedom to an expedient slavery, I have made a mistake. I wonder if I shouldn't have made more of an effort to understand my government, if I shouldn't have rid my mind of Locke, Rousseau, Mill, and the U. S. Constitution, and filled it instead with Marx, Lenin, Mrs. Roosevelt, and the U.N. But then I remember the poor saps I have seen, and the poor saps all over the world, who have sold their souls for that gold-plated lemon 'security,' and I wonder then if the sheer joy of just being alive, being a man, being free, is experienced by them as it is by me. I wonder if the sun, the moon, the wind, the rain, the cold, and even the hunger carry the same message from God to them as they do to me."

This year, I have played upon every instrument to arouse your interest in education, in schools, in teachers. Nobody can read this letter, from which I have quoted so voluminously without wondering what made this obviously well-read man so antagonistic to his own world. He is neither a Thoreau nor an Emma Goldman. He is only tired — horribly tired of life itself.

Man Proves Death Notice False

79 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of Jan. 25, 1879.

The death of James Grace, published in the Crescent in the last issue, was written two weeks ago and was intended to be suppressed.

The other day the old veteran walked into town and insisted upon it that he wasn't dead and hadn't been, but that he was bruised about the head by attempting to make port from a railway train while in motion.

He is certain he isn't an old bachelor, as one paper reported, but a widower and being comfortably fixed has no objection to conveying some trim craft over the turbulent waves of matrimony and will not object "to splicing the main brace" whenever the weather permits.

So the Crescent concludes that James Grace isn't dead yet.

Under the Capitol Dome

Backers of Home Rule Also Like Outside Cash

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — The mayor of Marshfield attracted notice considerably beyond his own jurisdiction the other day when he coupled an announcement of his retirement with a blast at the supposed violation of "home rule" in localities by the power of the state government.

He characterized the trend as one of the important problems of the times and said he intends to continue to fight it as a private citizen. As often related here, the legislature has shown a curious insistence upon meddling in the affairs of local governments — even to the exclusion of responsibilities and problems legitimately belonging to the state legislators. Other city officials have complained. It is a standard refrain of the league of Wisconsin in Municipalities.

But there is another side to the coin.

THE OTHER SIDE

Some of the principal officers of local government in Wisconsin, violently critical about state interference with their local rights and powers, evidently see no inconsistency in demanding ever more financial succor from that same, hated state government, or the national government.

They want the benefits of dependence with the posture of independence.

The other day this correspondent was the guest of a Madison group and Mayor Ivan Nestingen was guest speaker.

The mayor is an apt fellow. Chances are that his political career has only begun. By common consent he is performing well as mayor in a city which faces problems as complex and difficult as any other in the state.

The mayor spoke about his problems at some length — and the listeners learned that almost all of them — surely those he labored most strenuously — relate to more money wanted from either the state or the national governments. He didn't say it, but it was clear from his speech that the kind of a city he wants to run cannot be run on a budget depending upon local tax sources. He wants more state and federal money for schools, for airports, for streets, for slum clearance (urban renewal is the new name) and for other enterprises. Other cities must join Madison, for their own financial interest, in a more effective lobbying campaign to get outside money to augment the taxes raised by himself and his aldermen through their own ordinances.

MORE AND MORE

When such a contrast between "home rule" protestations and financial subsidy reality is made, municipal spokesmen invariably reply that under present statutory arrangements they are virtually anchored to the property tax base, which won't permit the kind of levies they need for a modern municipal budget of services.

The point is a good one, standing alone. Yet it might fairly be noted also that the cities of Wisconsin are not on record demanding of the legislature the right to levy auxiliary taxes. Other cities in the country have levied other taxes, in great variety. It might also be fairly assumed that if the expenditures the cities are so sure they must make are backed by public opinion, they would be able to levy such supplementary taxes without public resistance.

The complaint that the home rule principle in Wisconsin is being eroded by a legislature responding to bold and effective minority pressure groups is a truthful one.

But it is also one of the truths of the times that local government office holders find it easier to lean on taxes levied by other officials, upon other people, than it is to devise new local taxing arrangements for new local conditions that would directly apply to their own people — and voters.

Buck-passing is an increasingly popular political device.

No Specific Treatment for Disease Caused by Viruses

"Dear Dr. Molner: What about treatment of virus infections?"

The public health service has not yet been able to produce protective vaccines. For the ones we can't prevent, we have to figure out what we can do if the diseases do strike, and to tell the truth, the principal goals are to keep the patient comfortable as possible, keep his strength up and keep him from getting some other disease while he is under the strain of fighting the virus.

Thus the principal treatments are aspirin or other drugs to curb aches and pain; sponge baths if needed to reduce fever; maintenance of nutrition by proper foods and fluids; and

One of the risks of a virus infection (and I'm mainly referring to colds and flu) is a secondary infection caused by other germs. Sinus infections and pneumonia are good examples.

Prevention of some of these, on the other hand, has reached just when, or if, these second-ary infections start is not easy. A high degree of success — any infections start is not easy. Some such things that leaves him hair when she is only 6 years old impels me to give you this field — for the "problem" question to solve — there are, an endocrinologist — a special-

The Democrats have traditionally had trouble maintaining a precinct organization, and especially in those localities of traditionally Republican adherence. The party has admitted inferiority to Republicans in that detail of campaign preparation and organization.

Republicans claim most of their precinct committee posts — as provided by state law — are filled in the biennial party primary elections. Mrs. Lee listed these counties as leading the state for the Democrats, in the proportion of precinct committee offices filled to date: Jefferson, Milwaukee, Forest, Dane, Door, Douglas, Eau Claire, Vilas, Trempealeau, Ozaukee, Polk and Wood.

Kuehn Quits; GOP Brass Starts Frantic Hunt for New State Head

Abrupt Departure Laid to Business Reasons; Republicans May Name Replacement Friday

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Madison — The wires buzzed today as highest officers of the Wisconsin Republican party organization sought to plug an untimely gap in the party command resulting from the retirement of State Chairman Philip Kuehn of Milwaukee.

Wyngaard Kuehn's retirement plans leaked out last weekend and were confirmed in a formal announcement issued today from party headquarters. Kuehn said he was quitting to devote his attention to his family's business.

His abrupt departure from the GOP command post at the start of a possibly critical year for the party surprised most of the party workers. Insiders, who had been aware of his intentions, stepped up their efforts to center on a man who could succeed him without delay. The Republican state committee hopes to name a successor at a Wisconsin Rapids meeting Friday, when Kuehn's resignation will be filed officially.

No Volunteers
There were no "candidates" for the unpaid job which becomes a full-time assignment, and more, during a busy campaign season.

But that was not unusual. "We have never had a man who volunteered for the office yet," said one ranking Republican organization spokesman. "It is a question of drafting somebody."

Most inner circle speculation settled on these possible choices, although none are known to be actively interested in getting the office:

Everett Yerly, LaCrosse businessman, veteran personal campaign manager for candidates including Gov. Thomson and former Gov. Kohler, now head of the statutory state central committee, an inactive group.

Colburn Cherney, Green Bay lawyer and a vice chairman of the state GOP committee as chairman of the GOP county chairmen.

Claude J. Jasper, Madison lawyer, and for four years treasurer of the state committee.

Ray Jondahl, Racine county chairman, businessman.

Peter Pappas, long-time western Wisconsin leader, LaCrosse lawyer, and currently part-time executive counsel to Gov. Thomson.

Business Reasons
Kuehn attributed his retirement to the necessities of his private, family-owned business in Milwaukee.

His father, who has headed the enterprise, has been seriously ill lately. Other members of the family have insisted that Kuehn give up his outside work to devote full energies and time to the company, he has told friends.

In a letter to members of the state committee posted from Madison last night, Kuehn assured his colleagues that he intends to remain active in the party and hinted that his counsel and help will be available freely to his successor.

Unwelcome News
The Kuehn retirement was as unwelcome as it was unexpected to the lower echelons of the party which feels it faces the fight of its life in the elections this year. Kuehn has held his job only two and one half years. Not only is he relatively young, 38, for a party captain, but other ranking officers are also relatively new to their tasks.

Roland Frederick, executive secretary at state headquarters, took over his assignment only two months ago after no previous campaign experience. Robert L. Pierce of Menomonie, the ranking party officer in the state as national committee-man, has been ill.

Kuehn would have retired nearly a year ago, it was learned, in order to permit the organization to recruit and train a successor at leisure.

Changed Plans
The death of the late Sen. McCarthy last spring changed his plans. When Gov. Thomson ordered a special senate election during the summer, Kuehn decided to stay on and to direct the party campaign for the Republican nominee for the McCarthy seat — an unsuccessful one, as it turned out.

Kuehn made a reputation as a vigorous, combative party leader. He rose to the state command job through service as Milwaukee county GOP 1958 elections against Sen. William Proxmire, the Democratic incumbent.

It is known that they were dissatisfied about the qualifications and dubious about the prospects of such candidates who have indicated they are interested. Whether they had found any more suitable aspirants is not known.

Some candidate developments might turn up at the gathering sent in accordance with the aid-for-bases agreement between Spain and the United States.

Hilbert Man Wins Pikerama With Walleye

8½-Pound Catch Landed Early in 2-Day Contest

Chilton — An eight-and-half pound walleye caught by Leonard Joas, Hilbert, topped all entries in the second annual Calumet 4-H club Pikerama on Lake Winnebago.

The king-sized pike, measuring 27½ inches in length, was caught about 2:30 Saturday afternoon about four and a half miles from shore. It was weighed in at the Rye Ecker station.

Joas will receive a six horsepower outboard valued at $250 for his winning fish.

Second prize, a fly rod and reel, went to Paul Plause, Plymouth, for a 7-pound catch. A spin rod and reel was awarded to William Wagner, Grafton, who also landed a seven pounder.

Prize Winners

Tom Buechel, Chilton, won the fourth prize, a casting rod and reel, for his 6½ pound pike. A fly rod went to Andy Junk, Manitowoc, for a walleye weighing 6.2. Lester Deno, Menasha, won a spin rod for a 6-pound catch. Joe Cyrocki, Manitowoc, won the seventh prize, a casting rod, for a six pounder. In the case of ties, the committee awarded the higher priced rod to the first fish caught.

An estimated 750 persons fished the entire east shore area in the 2-day event. Winning fish were caught on all sections of the lake.

Committee members who arranged for the Pikerama were Russell Gash, Henry Schneider, Fred Schmid, O. M. Meyer, Lee Hemauer and Al Daun. Proceeds will be placed in a fund for the construction of a youth building at the fairgrounds.

Scofflaw King Pays $6,550 Record Fine

New York — The tab for being "king of the scofflaws" came yesterday to $6,550.

Gulping hard, a suburban real estate man paid the record bill for ignoring 131 traffic tickets.

J. Philip Cahill, 54, paid the fine just four hours after Chief Magistrate John M. Murtagh had told him to pay up in a week or go to jail for one year and 28 days.

The real estate man pleaded guilty through his lawyer, Martin J. Kelly, to the charges against him.

$50 A Ticket Murtagh, figuring at the maximum of $50 a ticket, told the businessman:

"You appear before me with more summonses than any one has ever appeared with before. You are the all-odds champion of the scofflaws."

Cahill's record for the past five years included 70 tickets for overtime parking in metered areas, 25 for parking in restricted areas, 10 for overtime parking in unmetered areas, 10 for double parking, 4 for parking next to fire hydrants and 2 for obstructing driveways. He also had tickets for other offenses including one for parking on a sidewalk.

Two Young People Hurt As Car Skids, Hits Pole

Two young people were treated at Kaukauna Community hospital Monday night for injuries received when their car skidded across a road and broke off a utility pole.

Henry J. Van Den Bosch, 16, route 2, Kaukauna, told county police he was driving on a town road and did not see the stop sign at County Trunk U.U. about ½ of a mile east of Highway 55, because of fog. His sister, Virginia, 15, received a broken nose, a broken tooth and a bump on the head. Van Den Bosch received a cut above the right eye.

$4,527 Collected in Red Cross Campaign

Donations to the Outagamie county Red Cross campaign total $4,527 to date—$650 from Seymour and the remainder from the advance gifts division.

According to Edward Pfeiffer, chairman of the advance gifts division, his section is aiming for $11,700.

Council Won't Act on Plea to Rehire Chief

Petition Sponsored By Clergymen Asked For Reconsideration

Waupaca — The city council Tuesday night refused to act on a petition seeking reconsideration of Police Chief Richard Bucholtz's resignation. The petition was sponsored by clergymen and was signed by some 160 residents. The council accepted Bucholtz's resignation two weeks ago.

Ald. Michael Drozd, the only dissenter in acceptance of the resignation, moved for reconsideration but failed to attract a second.

Clergymen, a businessman and former Waupaca county coroner Dr. A. M. Christofferson spoke on behalf of the petition.

Mayor Lloyd Matheson promised the council would attempt to keep the law enforcement at the standard set by Bucholtz.

A longevity plan granted the patrolman but not the chief figured in Bucholtz's resignation.

John O. Brown, police committee chairman, said applications for the post are being accepted. A full-time man will be appointed in April.

Brillion School District Okays Addition Plans

Brillion — Voters of Joint School District 2 authorized the board of education to call a referendum on the proposed $185,000 addition to the high school Monday evening at a public hearing. The vote was 77 to 36.

Total cost of the addition including interest on the bonds and cost of their sale will be $266,200 and be spread over 20 years, explained William Kimble. The average yearly cost would be $13,310. Added costs of $2,000 per year for heat, lights, water and maintenance would bring to $15,310 the yearly cost of the addition over the 20-year period.

The present indebtedness of the district is $120,000 and the debt limit is $500,000, Kimble said.

Wilmer Struebing of the building committee said present enrollment was 232 and that it would increase to 280 by 1961 and to 340 by 1968. The present need for teacher stations is 69, her sentence — somewhere between five years and life — as said. The proposed addition would provide 78.

Waukauna — Lloyd H. Welch, Catherine (Kit) Elvins, 19, Seat 44, Kaukauna, lost control of the car on an icy spot on Highway 10 east of Fremont about 9 o'clock Sunday night and hit a telephone pole, according to the Waupaca county sheriff's office. Welch was not injured.

Jury to Decide On Sanity of Elaine Soule

Found Guilty of 2nd Degree Murder Of Her Roommate

Redwood City, Calif. — A jury which convicted Elaine Soule, 20, of second degree murder, tomorrow begins trying to determine whether she was sane when she battered and knifed her roommate.

The seven women and five male jurors returned their verdict 2 hours and 43 minutes after receiving the case yesterday.

They still have to determine her sentence — somewhere between five years and life — as well as try her a second time on her plea of innocent by reason of insanity.

Elaine testified she struck from Freeport, N. Y., cracked slightly at the verdict.

Dist. Atty. Keith Sorenson argued to the jury: "She knew what she was doing . . . if you can't find her guilty of first degree murder then you can't find her guilty of anything."

'Bridge of San Luis Rey' Lacked Backgrounding

BY JINGO

Thirty years ago a then little known writer named Thornton Wilder published a novel entitled "The Bridge of San Luis Rey."

It was acclaimed by critics, won a Pulitzer prize and gradually took on the reputation of a modern classic. Today it is generally forgotten that the novel was a tremendous best-seller, a publishing sensation. It's also generally forgotten that two movies were made of "The Bridge"—a silent film and a 1937 sound movie.

Tuesday night "The Bridge of San Luis Rey" was presented on CBS-TV as the 90-minute "Show of the Month." Its large and expert cast included Judith Anderson, Hume Cronyn, Eva Le Gallienne and Viveca Lindfors.

"The Bridge of San Luis Rey" is a dramatic story about a group of people who were killed when the first bridge in Peru suddenly collapsed one July morning in 1714.

The profound philosophical question posed by the novel was whether we live and die by accident or by some grand design. For some reason best known to the adapters, this question was never rightly stated in the TV version until the end.

The size and complexity of the production, said to be the largest ever attempted for a live TV drama, was impressive. Fortunately, it did not upset members of the cast whose characterizations would have been memorable on a bare stage.

Perhaps "The Bridge of San Luis Rey" is one of those stories which cannot be translated from a novel.

Jingo's Jewels: Benny Goodman was signed to star in "Swing into Spring," a special jazz program to be TV'd in color by NBC April 9.

Milton Berle, once a top TV clown, will play a straight dramatic role Feb. 19 on "Kraft Theater." The play is "Material Witness."

M. D. International Thursday night on TV takes you nearly around the world assisting doctors in remote places. It's on NBC-TV channels.

In case you care, Liberace goes to Australia Feb. 21.

MGM-TV will switch the format of "Thin Man" to a "Dragnet" type. No more cute cutups. You can measure the real movie star by his attitude toward TV.

Those who still hold out except for old movies, include John Wayne, Rita Hayworth, Marilyn Monroe, Rock Hudson, Gregory Peck, Glenn Ford, Marion Brando, Cary Grant, Montgomery Clift, Elizabeth Taylor and Robert Taylor.

James Mason probably will star in "Show of the Month's" adaptation of "Tale of Two Cities" in March.

Mike Connolly, Hollywood reporter, says "The Bridge of San Luis Rey" is a run-away in sales involving those who died in the fall of the bridge, with little intelligible backgrounding of character.

Soil Programs Boost Farmers' Spending Power

But They Also Must Be Good Managers, Conservationists Says

Soil conservation practices increase farmers' spending power by boosting production and profits. Vernon Geiger, district soil conservationist, told members of the Northside Kiwanis club Tuesday noon.

"Surveys show Outagamie county farmers who practice soil conservation have an average income of $8,800 per year—those who don't average $6,200 per year," Geiger declared.

"Soil conservationists help the farmer by helping them improve their land use methods. Conservation projects include waterways, terraces, diversions, concrete dams, tiling, surface drainage, farm ponds and watersheds."

Geiger said by 1975 about 5 million farms will be producing food to sustain the United States' population. He stated that population increase estimates show that 100 million more acres of crop land will be needed to produce the crops.

Discussing conservation education problems, Geiger declared, "All the conservation practices available won't help the farmer if he isn't a good manager."

Geiger said farmers must learn to apply efficient business techniques to managing farm land.

One of the greatest problems facing conservationists is to convince farmers that soil conservation is necessary and profitable, he said. He stated only 15 per cent of Outagamie county farmers practice soil conservation.

It takes about 15 years for most farmers to adopt soil conservation practices after the methods have been tried and proved successful, according to Geiger. He said farmers are hesitant to use management records, adopt insect control methods, test milk for butterfat or plan better marketing methods.

"Agriculture must increase its productive capacity to meet an increasing demand for its products both at home and abroad," Geiger said.

Spanking Brings $750 to Student In Texas School

Houston, Texas.—A spanking administered by a school teacher was worth $750 to Doris Marie Frazier, 12. Dist. Judge Byron Johnson ruled yesterday that the punishment meted out by the teacher, Mrs. Juanita Duff, 44, was "over and beyond her duty."

Doris Marie

Appleton Post-Crescent 11
Wednesday, Jan. 22, 1958
$300 for pain, suffering, and humiliation and another $250 for medical expenses and an exemplary damages. The girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Frazier, had sought a total of $10,250 damages in their suit. "This is a blow to the whole teaching profession," Mrs. Duff said. She said she may ask the Texas State Teachers' association to aid her in an appeal of the decision. Mrs. Duff testified the girl had persistently failed to pay attention in class or do her homework. She said the spanking May 10, 1956, was a last resort. Johnson awarded the girl resort.

Sandburg Collection New in Public Library

A collection of works by Carl Sandburg, one of America's most well-known and most beloved contemporary writers, has been added to the Appleton public library this week.

The Sandburg Range is a representative selection from the author's wide variety of writings and is now available in a new, handsome binding. All new books will be released for circulation Friday.

Other new additions to the library are "The Life of the Book" by Hellmut Lehmann-Haupt, a history of publishing; and "Her Majesty the Cat" by Fernand Mery, pictures and stories about feline friends.

The week's fiction is headlined by "A Death in the Family," an offering by James Agee. The author, who has drawn favorable nods from several major book critics is best known for his movie scripts.

Other novels are "What Mrs. McGillicuddy Saw" by Agatha Christie, "Another Man's Murder" by Mignon Eberhart, "A Family Affair" by Roger Eddy, "The White Witten" by Elizabeth Goudge, "A Cup of Tea for Mr. Thorngill" by Storm Jameson, "The House on the Beach" by E. L. Winters.

There has been considerable pressure upon Elliot Waldstead, Milwaukee lawyer and former Democratic party chairman, to run.

However, it is understood he has no intention of running. He is best known to Democratic workers as a candidate for attorney general and as an unsuccessful candidate for the party nomination for U. S. senator in 1956.

Wingert has no challenger, to date, for the 10-year term for which he is a candidate in April.

The other goes to a man over 35.

Members of the judging committee will be announced at the meeting.

"Hermit of Cat Island" by Peter Ansen, the life of Fra Jerome Hawes.

"Yankee G. Christie" by Mignon Eberhart, the autobiography of a U. S. intelligence officer.

"Sour From Granada" by Gerald Brennan, a portrait of Spain.

"The Pick Tea for Mr. Thorngill" by Storm Jameson, a compilation of cartoons and articles from the "Caricature" magazine.

Candidate Lack May Dash Election Hope of Democrats

Madison — Hopes of some Democrats for a trial test of strength with Republicans in the April judicial elections probably will be dashed for lack of a suitable candidate.

Some Democrats are so sure the party has pulled up to the Republicans in strength that a quiet search has been on for a candidate for the supreme court who could rally "liberals" in the contest with Justice E. L. Wingert, Madison, a Republican appointee.

There has been considerable pressure upon Elliot Waldstead, Milwaukee lawyer and former Democratic party chairman, to run.

However, it is understood he has no intention of running. He is best known to Democratic workers as a candidate for attorney general and as an unsuccessful candidate for the party nomination for U. S. senator in 1956.

Laird Promises Close Study of Defense Budget

Work Begins on $40 Billion Bid
From President

BY FRANCES McKUSICK
Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

Washington—Rep. Melvin R. Laird, Marshfield Re publication, Tuesday commenced the job of examining the $40 billion defense budget request, as a member of the house defense appropriations subcommittee.

Before congress convened this month, the Wisconsin congressman made the prediction that the house appropriations committee would cut the $40 billion defense budget to $38 billion, but that the senate would attempt to add even more money to the defense budget than was requested by the president. Just what figure will emerge out of the conference committee of both house and senate members is pure speculation, Laird said.

Plans Hearing
Today Laird reaffirmed his intention of examining each request for money with the view of determining whether the amounts were beyond reason. His subcommittee will hold hearings on all funds requested by the army, navy, air force and marines.

In addition to serving on the defense appropriations committee, Laird also was appointed to appropriations subcommittees on health, education and welfare, labor and commerce.

"It looks as though I would be knee-deep in money matters," Laird observed.

Commented Rep. John Taber of New York, the top Republican on the full appropriations committee, who is responsible for Laird's subcommittee assignments. "I wanted someone who was willing to work hard."

Schools Plan 2-Day Recess For Youngsters

Teachers and administrators will be at work but all public school youngsters, both elementary and secondary, will have a 2-day vacation Monday and Tuesday.

The between-semester recess, held for the first time in Appleton schools this year, will allow teachers time to put their records in order, according to John P. Mann, superintendent of schools.

All teachers and administrators will report for a regular work day on both days, he noted, and will complete the record-keeping duties usually done after school hours.

The 2-day work period is part of teachers' contracts this year, Mann stated. The usual 5-day Easter recess will be cut to three days this year to compensate for the loss of actual teaching days. The state requires at least 180 teaching days during the year.

Cancer Society Plans Campaign

Preliminary plans for the April Cancer Crusade, a fund raising effort held by the Outagamie county unit of the American Cancer society, are being prepared by the unit's board.

John Donohue and John Rinkle, general campaign co-chairmen, reported on a state organization meeting held in Milwaukee and Miss Margaret Walsh, chairman of the neighborhood campaign, discussed her division's duties in the drive at Monday's board meeting.

It was announced a new film has been purchased to show to women's groups.

Accused Jeweler Tells Police About Badge

Milwaukee—Walter Miske, Jr., 30-year-old jeweler accused of burglarizing another jewelry store, told police Tuesday night he found a special investigator badge in an old chair he purchased from a business associate.

Local authorities learned this week that Miske, held in the county jail, was relieved of the badge during an altercation with a policeman at Marinette on Jan. 2. Miske was taken into custody about 10 days later and charged with the $68,000 burglary of the Majestic Jewelry company here on Dec. 2.

He denied any knowledge of the burglary but admitted receiving some of the loot and knowing it was stolen.

State Health
Office Says T.B.
Still Dangerous

Department Devotes Entire Periodical to Lung Disease Problem

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — Fifty years after this state made the first positive move against the disease, the danger of tuberculosis is far from defeated, the state health administration warned today in a review of the history of the anti-tuberculosis program.

The health department devoted the entire contents of its quarterly periodical to tuberculosis, what has been done in the battle against the disease in the past, and the control problems remaining.

"Much as we wish that tuberculosis might be under control or wiped out as a major cause of illness, disability and death, such a wish has not come true," said Dr. Carl Neupert, chief of the state health agency.

There are "significantly" fewer deaths today, but almost as many cases being reported as there were two generations ago, the public was told. In 1956 the number of cases actually rose higher than recorded in the five previous years, Dr. Neupert recalled.

Death Rate
But the Wisconsin death rate, recently calculated at 4.4 per 100,000 population, is well below the national average of 8.5, the health official noted.

The fact that prevalence of tuberculosis remains significantly high is shown by a 1956 Wisconsin case rate of 42.9 per 100,000.

In 1910 the case rate was 54.5 per 100,000.

Meanwhile the case-finding rate by the mobile testing unit survey was the same in 1956 as it was six years earlier.

Actor Files Libel
Husband of Gina

Rome — American Film Actor Lex Barker has filed a libel suit against the husband of Gina Lollobrigida, who objected to being cast opposite "a former Tarzan actor."

Barker's lawyer, Giovanni Ozzo, said the suit complains that his client was libeled when the Rome newspaper Paesa Sera quoted Gina's husband, Milko Skofic, as saying Barker was "a declassé (outmoded) actor who came to Italy in search of fortune."

Ozzo said Skofic denied making the statement. The lawyer added that the suit, filed yesterday, cites a Paesa Sera reporter and executive as well as Skofic.

Gina started the new year by suing an Italian producer she said wanted to cast "a former Tarzan actor" opposite her in a film "Imperial Venus," based on the life of Napoleon's sister Pauline Borghese. Her husband told newsmen the press inevitably would have tabbed the movie "Imperial Tarzan." Barker, who started in pictures as the jungle hero, said he had been tentatively engaged for the role opposite Gina.

Ozzo said the actor's suit applied only to the remark quoted by Paesa Sera, not the "Imperial Tarzan" and "former Tarzan actor" cracks.

Soviets Claim to Have Invented Sleep Machine

London — Moscow radio said Tuesday a Soviet scientist has invented a machine which puts you to sleep by shooting electrical impulses into the body.

The broadcast indicated the idea wasn't to provide a handy home device that will take the place of sleeping pills. It said the machine — known as "the universal stimulator" — "will enable medical men to study the complex nervous processes that go on in men and animals" and can be used to diagnose and treat nervous ailments.

The Soviet radio said the nervous system of a sleepy person gives off a certain kind of impulse. It claimed the machine duplicates this impulse and introduces it into the subject's system, sending him to bed.

Crime Spree by
2 Youths Nets
Only 37 Cents

Dallas — Two teen-age bandits held up and terrorized three pedestrians before they were captured by police Monday night.

The crime spree netted them only 37 cents.

Police identified the two youths as Robert Lee Thomas, 19, and Mark Barefield, 15.

The pair surrendered a blank pistol to Patrolman E. W. McElwee, who arrested them as they drove an old model car.

The elder youth told officers the robberies were staged "just for kicks because we got tired of movies and had nothing else to do." The younger boy said they needed cash to pay traffic tickets.

In the hour before their arrest, police said the boys terrorized Cleveland Sneed, 24, W. of the 37 cents.

Sneed and Clark were taken to juvenile home. No charges were filed immediately.

"Your Key to Better Living With NAME BRANDS FOR LESS"

Lawrence Says:

'Univac' Would Tell of Current Business Trends

Signs in 1957 Did Not Indicate True Nature of Recession

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — What's going on in the national economy at this particular moment is perhaps the biggest single preoccupation in the minds of business men. If someone could invent a "univac" to assemble the facts about business fluctuations currently — not just retrospectively over the last month or the last quarter or the last year — it would be easier to know what the actual trend is today.

For just at the moment the country is being told that a "recession" is under way. Actually, there were signs of a recession a year ago when the national production began to slide. But nobody knew whether the slide was temporary. Also, there were conflicting factors at work. Thus, "hard goods" began to slip downward, but "soft goods" stayed around. Yet today, looking back to what was happening in January, February and March of 1957, it is evident that the first big blow the national economy began to feel was of a psychological sort. The fust over the size of the budget caused hesitation in government spending. Defense contractors began to be worried. There was even a delay in paying for work in process, and soon many companies had to start borrowing money they otherwise would have received currently from the government.

Talk began to be heard, too, of a deadline — June 30, which is the end of the government's fiscal year — and of attempts to make a better showing on the budget. Government payments were delayed for a variety of good reasons. The talk also was of changes in the amount of spending. The talk, furthermore, was of anti-inflation measures and tighter credit, and this, of course, caused many a company to defer its borrowing funds more cheaply. Billions of dollars' worth of private projects were laid aside.

What did all these influences mean to the psychology of the final quarter of 1957? How much of it were they responsible for the tendency to look upon the year 1957 as a whole as likely to be one of decline and perhaps in time the final quarter's operations were about to be envisaged during the summer and Sealand (other bases in months of 1957, the fear of readjustment had grown sizable and began to appear in a tangible form in the cutdown of spending by companies engaged in heavy goods, such as machinery and equipment. Unemployment began to rise.

Profit Year

What had seemed at first like a good profit year in 1957 turned out in the end to be adversely affected by the decline in the last quarter. It was not enough of a decline to make 1957 appear, relatively speaking, as a very bad year on profits, but it gave its own warning of the effect of the squeeze — high costs and a diminishing volume of sales.

Today many of the labor leaders are reluctant to take too seriously the idea of a "recession." Others accept it and urge tax reduction and deflationary remedies. They concede a readjustment is in progress but they do not feel it will be prolonged and are relying on the forecasts now being made about an "upturn" in the second half of 1958. Consequently they are thinking in terms of "wage increases as usual." This could block an upturn in business and shake public confidence.

President Eisenhower, in his economic report to congress, warns against increases in wages or prices — which is what he did a year ago — but the economic forces of the country do not seem to respond to exhortation. They respond only to grim facts.

All of the bad news about the impact of the recession has probably not materialized as yet. Unemployment is around 6.4 percent, and there are many predictions that it will reach beyond 5,000,000 and even to 6,000,000 before the first quarter of 1958 is over.

The stock market, which is betting on a rise in business, is rather firm. It shows evidence of a belief that the worst is over. But the truth is nobody knows just when business will turn upward, because such a complex mechanism as a private enterprise economy is not susceptible of contemporaneous analysis. One has to wait till the weekly or monthly figures come in, and by that time a lot more has happened that can confirm or negate entirely the impressions already formed.

Huntley School to Cost $1.1 Million

Hoffman Company Enters Low Bid on General Construction

The city council probably will be asked to provide $1,100,000 to build the Huntley elementary school, the school board decided Tuesday afternoon after opening bids.

The bids totaled $893,269 and the school will begin architect's fees, 10 per cent this spring. The school will be for equipment and furniture, bounded on the north by E. some landscaping and a 2 per cent contingency fund would bring the cost to the proposed figure, according to Supt. of Schools John P. Mann.

The Hoffman company, Inc., Appleton, entered the low bid of $816,600 for general construction. It was more than $40,000 less than the next lowest bidder.

The R. Wenzel company, Appleton, entered low bids on both the plumbing and heating contracts. The heating bid was $92,863 and the plumbing bid $63,676. The heating bid was about $1,800 less than the next lowest bidder and the plumbing bid about $5,700 lower.

Electrical Contract — Langstad's Inc., Appleton, low bid of $115,000 on the electrical contract. It was about $2,400 under the next lowest bid.

The low bid on kitchen equipment came from Eastern Supply company, Inc., Green Bay. It was not the low bid until the school board decided to accept an alternate calling for only part of the equipment in the original contract. The rest of the equipment would be added as it is needed.

In all, 10 firms bid on the general contract, seven on plumbing, eight on heating, five on electric work and four on kitchen equipment.

The school, slated for completion in September 1959, will serve over 600 students. Construction probably will begin architect's fees, 10 per cent this spring. The school will be for equipment and furniture, bounded on the north by E. some landscaping and a 2 per cent contingency fund would bring the cost to the proposed figure, according to Supt. of Schools John P. Mann.

Alternates: The school board accepted three and rejected three alternates.

Accepted were: Substitution of cut stone exterior sills for aluminum sills at an added cost of $2,200. Architect George Narovec and Mann both recommended the stone sills because of better appearance and lower maintenance costs.

Substitution of asphalt tile in the entryways for terrazzo at a saving of $900. Although Narovec recommended the terrazzo, saying it would last longer, the board felt the asphalt would not be as slippery in winter and fewer falls would result.

Substitution of a gypsum ceiling tile for a steel ceiling tile the original contract. The rest of the equipment would be added as it is needed.

In all, 10 firms bid on the general contract, seven on plumbing, eight on heating, five on electric work and four on kitchen equipment.

Alternates rejected were: Substitution of unglazed tile for face brick wainscoting in corridors, gymnasium and stairways. There was no difference in price on Hoffman's bid and board members felt the face brick would provide the better surface.

Substitution of plaster in some of the lavatories for ceramic tile. The plaster would have cost $275 less, but the architect and board members felt tile would last much longer and was worth the money.

Substitution of a second type, more expensive, steel acoustic tile for the ceilings in most of the school. The steel tile would have cost $10,000 more than the gypsum tile chosen and Mann and the board felt it was too expensive.

The school board probably will request the $1,100,000 at its Monday night meeting. The request will go to the city council at its Feb. 4 meeting.

The present bonded indebtedness of the city is $6,534,000. That is 37.1 per cent of the statutory limit of $17,602,136, based on 8 per cent of the assessed valuation for 1957. The new school, plus another $1 million or more in bonds anticipated for public works this year, would bring bonded indebtedness to about 50 per cent of the limit.

The Huntley school will be an "H" shaped structure about 360 feet long and 280 feet wide. It will be one story, except for the middle wing, which is two stories.

Included will be about 20 classrooms, an auditorium, gymnasium, storage space, lunch facilities with a kitchen, library and administrative and maintenance rooms. Also included are a special physical education room and an arts and crafts room.

Atlas Plywood Closes Plant at Rhinelander

Milwaukee — Atlas Plywood corporation, Boston, Mass., will close its Rhinelander mill Jan. 31 for economy reasons.

David W. Wollin, executive vice president, said the Rhinelander operations would be moved to the company's newer, more efficient mill at Newberry, Mich., where the company has 55,000 acres of timberland.

The Rhinelander plant employs 150 workers. Wollin said that some of the employees may be offered jobs at Newberry, depending upon how long the current slump in business continues.

Business Barometer

Some Paperboard Makers See Lag; Others Look for Upswing Shortly

(Editor's Note: This is a condensation of an article which appeared in the Wall Street Journal.)

Chicago—While some paperboard makers are nervous about signs of continued recession, others are optimistic that 1958 may be one of the best years ever for the industry.

Paperboard output, less than 1 per cent away in 1957 from the all-time peak year of 1956, is reported dropping below year-ago levels.

Because paperboard is generally regarded as a barometer of business activity, the trend is interpreted by some as a signal that tight economic conditions will continue at least for several months.

Production and orders in the opening weeks of January were down more percentage-wise.

Neller Estate Left in Trust

$232,656 Not Given To Widow, Children As Previously Stated

A story which appeared in Tuesday's Post-Crescent concerning the estate of John H. Neller erroneously indicated that Neller's estate had been distributed to his widow and four children.

The article should have indicated that Neller's four children were left $2,000 each and the bulk of the estate was left in trust, with the income to be paid Mrs. Ina Neller, the widow, 410 E. Washington street. Mrs. Neller also is allowed, under terms of the will, to withdraw up to $4,000 a year from the trust principle.

Neller, who died at 75, left a gross estate of $232,653. The figure for state tax purposes was in excess of $203,000 and the amount for distribution according to the final accounting filed in probate court was more than $141,000. The latter amount represents the estate after expenses and exempted insurance amounts have been deducted.

The trust is to end after Mrs. Neller's death.

The National Manufacturer's Bank of Neenah was named trustee for the estate.

The amounts listed in Tuesday's Post-Crescent as distributed to Neller's widow and children were amounts used to calculate the state tax on the estate.

3 Gas Main Breaks Found at Scene of Madison Explosion

Madison — A state investigator said Tuesday three gas main breaks were found at the scene of Madison's tragic Bassett street explosion and fire early Jan. 5.

Ralph Purucker, assistant chief engineer for the public service commission, said excavations located the breaks under the street near the center of the block devastated by the worst of the city's three explosions. A man and his wife living on the block lost their lives.

The explosions, erupting almost simultaneously in three different areas of the city, resulted in property damaged estimated at more than $500,000.

Purucker said the breaks apparently resulted from the gas pressure too high for the mains.

Home Mutual Begins Missouri Operations

Donald R. Mattson, 1313 S. Lave street, has been named Missouri agent for the Home Mutual Insurance company.

Mattson's transfer marks the beginning of Home Mutual operations in Missouri. The firm currently operates in Wisconsin, Indiana, Minnesota, and Michigan. He will recruit agents for the company.

Prior to joining Home Mutual in 1949, Mattson was an independent agent in St. Croix Falls. He is married and the father of two children.

Former Waupaca Businessman Dies

Charles A. Yorkson, 62, a former Waupaca businessman, died at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon at Waupaca after a 4-month illness. He was born Feb. 27, 1875, in Waupaca, and operated a mens' clothing store there for many years.

Funeral services will be at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the Holly Funeral home, Waupaca, with burial in Lakeside cemetery, Waupaca. The Rev. Edmund R. Webster, rector of St. Mark Episcopal church, will officiate. A requiem high mass will be celebrated for Yorkson at 7 o'clock Thursday morning and cartons. While this may be partly due to recession jitters, at the funeral home after 1:30 Wednesday afternoon.

The only survivor is his widow.

Election Officials to Be Picked on Basis of Presidential Ballots

Madison — Atty. Gen. Honeck said in an opinion Tuesday that county election officials for this year's balloting should be appointed on the basis of the vote cast in the presidential election of 1956.

Waukesha County Dist. Atty. James D'Amato had asked whether the officials should be named on the results of the gubernatorial contest.

Honeck said the state supreme court cleared up the question in a decision, and held that appointments should be based on the presidential race in the previous general election, if it was a presidential election year, and on the gubernatorial race in off-year elections.

Offers 9 Ways To Offset 'Bad' Entertainment

Welfare Director Tells COMBAT How To Protect Children

The cumulative effect of unsavory comics, movies, radio and television programs adds to undesirable influences surrounding children, members of Combat (Council on Movies, Books, Audio and Television) were told Tuesday evening. Speaker was Alfred R. Eggert, director of the county welfare department.

"In evaluating TV, radio, comics, books and movies, we must take into account not only what each has to offer but the combined impact of all of them upon children," he contended. "While we have no way to measure the effects of any one program or movie or comic magazine, we must consider the sum total of this barrage of sound and fury to which our children are subjected from all sides. Our task is to find a balance."

Nine suggestions offered by the speaker were:

1. Try to understand interests and needs of the child.
2. Know what your children are reading, seeing and hearing. See and hear with them their preferred programs and chosen films. Invite them to share some of your choices and others you think they'll enjoy.
3. Discuss their programs, comics and movies with them, without censure, and help them develop critical judgment.
4. Respect their rights and feelings. Don't arbitrarily tear up a comic or interrupt a program. They will accept the forbidding of undesirable ones more readily if you are considerate.

A firm 'No' to certain comics, programs or movies that seem to upset them.

6. Help them budget their time for things that must be done, allowing for their favorite entertainment within reason.
7. If comics, movies, radio or TV absorb a child to the exclusion of other interests and activities, talk over with him and work out together a sensible plan for cutting down or selecting more wisely.
8. See that children have enjoyable things to do, places to go, wholesome friendships, hobbies, responsibilities, varied experiences and real adventures. Help them to use the library. Develop family activities all can enjoy.

9. Take part in an organization formed to safeguard children from horror and crime comics, programs and movies.

Cudo Tri-Hi-Y Unit Names New President

Joanne Grobe has been elected president of Cudo senior Tri-Hi-Y club. Miss Florence Arbuthnot, YMCA women's and girls' secretary, said today.

Other officers are Bonnie Nutting, vice president, Carole Andersen, secretary, Bonnie Wellner, treasurer, Jo Ann Wilson, chaplain, and Diane Seeger, historian.

Dorothy Metko and Bonnie Barlow were named club representatives. Barbara Jones and Sue Fulton were elected sergeants-at-arms.

Building Permits Issued for 2 Homes

Permits to build two new homes have been issued to Harold P. Meiers by Building Inspector Walter Bogan. They bring the January total to 13, the same amount issued last year for the entire month.

The homes, both of frame construction with 4 rooms and baths, will be built at 314 and 320 E. Taft avenue. Estimated cost of each is $10,600.

Attends Meeting

L. L. Doerfler, chairman of the Outagamie County Red Cross chapter, attended a meeting of Red Cross chapter chairman in Sheboygan Tuesday. Meetings are held periodically for chairmen from 17 surrounding chapters to discuss means of cooperation in pooling resources.

Home Entered

Gerald Greunke, 149 S. Tullah avenue, Tuesday night told police that someone forced open the rear door of his home and entered the building. A boxer dog in an adjacent room apparently frightened the intruder away. Greunke said. Nothing was missing.

City PTA Statistics Indicate Growth Over Last School Year

Total membership in public school Parent-Teacher associations shows a slight increase over last year, according to statistics published in Chalk Dust, a periodical put out by the Appleton PTA council.

Enrollments as of this month were compared with those of last year and show an increase of 29. Memberships for the 1956-'57 school year, the article points out, were 21 per cent over those of the 1955-'56 year.

Students Plan Humorous Talks

Annual Recital for AHS Pupils Set for Thursday Afternoon

Five Appleton High school students will present humorous declamations for the AHS student body Thursday afternoon. Speakers will be Barbara Dhein, Carolyn Ewald, Judy Goehler, John Kellogg and Dorothy Metko.

Subject matter for the selections vary. Miss Dhein's reading will be Dorothy Parker's "The Waltz." Miss Ewald's will be a story of a harassed student who needs to find material for a speech.

Edna Means' story "The Gym Hour" dealing with a calisthenics instructor trying to help women reduce is the one chosen by Miss Goehler. Kellogg's reading deals with lunches and students.

"She Lost It" by Van Chalmers is the story which Miss Metko will relate.

Judges will be Mrs. Henry Hackberth, Mrs. Merle Watson and Mrs. Edmund Sutherland. The student selected by the judges will have his or her name engraved on the AHS hall of fame plaque together with that of Lolly Morrissey who won the serious declamation recital last week.

Coach of humorous declamation is Kenneth Sager, head of the social studies department. H. H. Helbie, principal, will preside during the program.

Appleton Firemen Answer Three Calls

Firemen answered three calls Tuesday afternoon and evening.

A short in the wiring of a street lamp post caused a fire shortly after 3 o'clock in the afternoon in the 100 block of N. Appleton street. Firemen used a dry powder extinguisher to put out the fire and called the city electrical department.

A defective oil burner at the home of Harold D. Felton, 108 W. Marquette street, sprayed fuel oil into the furnace and firemen were called about 7:50 Tuesday evening. Firemen stood by while a serviceman removed the surplus fuel oil before lighting the furnace.

A soot-plugged chimney on a house trailer occupied by Martin Elmke at 1430 N. Charlotte street, brought a call shortly after 7 o'clock Tuesday night. Firemen took no action.

Vandals Break Into Vacant Building

Louis Blinder, 12 Pierce court, owner of a vacant building at 1004 S. Oneida street, told police Tuesday that vandals had broken into the building. Blinder said he could find no new damage.

Blinder several times has reported broken windows and assorted vandalism around the exterior of the building, police reports show.

New London Ends Year With $19,000 Surplus

New London — The city government concluded 1957 with a surplus of about $19,000, city councilmen learned Tuesday night.

Mayor Gust O. Krueger announced the deficit accounts total $4,166.

The council transferred $5,000 to the contingent fund and authorized payment of the deficits from the contingent fund. The remaining $14,000 will stay in the surplus.

UW Work, Modeling Keep Miss Wisconsin of '57 Busy

As Miss Wisconsin of 1957, honey-blond Joan Carol Hentschel is not only one of the prettiest girls in the state, but also one of the busiest.

Now in her second year of studies at the University of Wisconsin, Joan sandwiched into her schedule a 1-day trip to Appleton last week to model new summer fashions at Geenen's Department store. It's semester exam time on the Madison campus, which made possible her weekday visit, Joan explained. Usually her schedule runs something like this—concentration on studies during the week and participation in Miss Wisconsin duties on weekends.

Still in her teens ("I'll be 19 on March 5), the slender miss (height five feet five inches, weight just 105 pounds and with measurements of 34, 22, 34) has found her life a great deal more hectic since winning the crown of Miss Wisconsin at Reedsburg last summer.

Art Education Major The time between her selection in July and the Miss America contest in September was devoted mainly to preparing for the Atlantic City competition. Joan pointed out. On return from the east, she plunged into a busy schedule of sophomore studies on the UW campus, where she resides at Cochrane house, and of modeling and fashion consultation for a manufacturer of women's dresses. Joan also has been a 1957 coed model for fashion events on the Madison campus.

Elementary education, with the thought that she'd like a career in kindergarten teaching, was Joan's major at the UW for her freshman year and the first semester of this term. However, she recently changed that major to art education, a field which has always interested her.

On her Appleton visit, Joan termed her plans for the future indefinite. "On the third finger of her left hand is a lovely solitaire which she received from William Luebke, Milwaukee, a junior in economic studies at the state university, on the day after she returned from the Miss America contest. "Just when I thought things would settle down to normal, this happened," she commented happily glancing at the engagement ring.

Joan, who calls Wauwatosa home, noted that the Miss Wisconsin contest was the first she had ever entered. "And I really didn't enter it myself," she explained. A neighbor woman, who thought the fair-complexioned, brown-eyed coed was Miss America material, entered her name in the Miss Wauwatosa contest (preliminary competition to the Miss Wisconsin contest).

The young contestant first became aware of the entry, when she received a letter saying she had been screened and accepted as a contestant.

"I almost didn't make the Miss Wauwatosa judging,"

Joan pointed out, "I had a tonsillectomy a short time before the contest and my talent field, interpretative dancing, is pretty strenuous."

But Joan competed, won and then in July received the crown of Miss Wisconsin, a title she'll hold until a new state queen is named this summer.

Summer Tour Planned The lithe young woman has had nine years of dancing lessons and considers ballet and interpretative dancing her major talent field. However, her interests also include piano and art and she loves to sew, sail and swim in free time.

Since becoming Miss Wisconsin, the hobbies have had to take second place to the duties which her title require. And there'll be little time this summer probably, as Joan will be touring the country promoting "Miss Wisconsin Cheese" for a meat packing firm.

Joan, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Hentschel, Wauwatosa, attributes her health, beauty and happiness to "a pleasant home life, a well-selected variety of interests and activities and proper rest and exercise."

Although she won on special awards at Atlantic City, Joan feels it was all worthwhile. "It was a wonderful experience and one I'll always cherish," she explained. Not only has she made many new friends as Miss Wisconsin of 1957, but Joan feels that the experience will contribute much toward her future life.

Sense of Humor Helps in Facing Reality, Priest Tells Christian Mothers

Develop a sense of humor to help shake off frustrations and avoid worry, the Rev. Arnold Schrinken, dean of psychology at St. Norbert college, told members of the Christian Mothers society of Sacred Heart church Tuesday night in his talk on the "ABC's of Mental Health."

It is important to have a healthy approach to life, he told his audience, and we all should try to get along with what we have as best we can. "The big problem," he said, "is not that we have problems to face, but how we face them. How we are able to meet them."

Many persons refuse to face reality, he pointed out, and they seek escape in many ways. One way is a flight into fantasy, or daydreaming. Another is an escape into the past or a failure to grow up emotionally so that problems of daily living cannot be met in an adult manner.

Dangerous Daydreaming Daydreaming is not without its good points, Father Schrinken told his listeners, for it is this quality that develops the imagination and a fertile mind. But it also can become dangerous, he warned, if it becomes a habit. It can become a vicious circle if used as a constant escape from reality, he said.

In discussing causes of mental illness, the Rev. Schrinken said that some of the contributing factors may include nervousness, constant fatigue, depression, worry and extreme apprehension. He warned against worrying over things in advance, before they actually happen. He pointed out that the cause for many emotional disturbances can't be pinpointed.

The society honored the Rev. Emil J. Schmidt, pastor of the church, whose birthday was Jan. 5.

Newly elected officers of the organization include Mrs. Ray Van de Hey, president; Mrs. Earl Gitter, vice president; Mrs. Ralph Bloy, financial secretary; Mrs. Glenn Utschig, recording secretary; and Mrs. Edward Hertel, treasurer.

Mrs. Albert Volpintesta was hostess for the evening.

In Good Taste Ring Bell, Never Honk For Friends

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: I had arranged with my cousin to pick her up at a certain hour at the house of friends of ours whom she was visiting. When I arrived at the time specified I honked the horn of my car to let her know that I was there but did not go into the house. I understand that these friends were very much put out with me for not ringing the bell and stopping to say hello. I was very anxious to get home and I knew if I went in I would be delayed so I waited in the car for her to come out. Will you please tell me if I was rude?

Answer: You should have rung the bell and said that you were sorry but that you were late and had to hurry home without stopping for even a minute.

Partner Can't Dance

Dear Mrs. Post: What can a young man do when he finds himself on the dance floor with a partner who has "two left feet," so to speak? This happened to me the other evening and I just couldn't lead her into time. I thought she would give up of her own accord and suggest that we sit down but not at all, she kept right on struggling. Would it have been impolite for me to suggest that we sit down?

Answer: It would be more courteous to put the suggestion of sitting out for awhile as a result of your own poor dancing. For example, you could say, "I seem to be stepping all over your feet—perhaps we'd better sit this out." On no account should you tell her that the fault is hers.

Editor Chooses

Dear Mrs. Post: We will be announcing our daughter's engagement very soon. Her fiancé is from another city and is known to a few people in our town. Would it be proper to send his picture, as well as our daughter's to the local newspaper? Would a picture of the two of them together be better?

Answer: Send a picture of both of them together and one of her alone so that the society editor can use whichever one he prefers.

Isabelle McClung Honored at Parties

A round of farewell parties for Miss Isabelle McClung, assistant professor of voice at the Lawrence conservatory of music, has been held on the campus the past ten days as the first semester closes.

Miss McClung will leave the faculty to marry the Rev. Robert Goesser Feb. 1 in Springfield, Mo. in a ceremony to be performed by her father, Dr. A. J. McClung of the First and Calvary Presbyterian church. The Rev. Mr. Goesser is a former faculty member at Lawrence. The couple will honeymoon for five months in Europe.

A household shower was given for the bride by her apartment-mate Miss Dorrit Friedlander, Jan. 14 and on the following day, Miss McClung was guest of honor at an appreciation dinner given by the choir of the Memorial Presbyterian church, where she has been choir director.

A luncheon shower at the home of Mrs. Robert Barnes, 1125 N. Nevada court, was held Jan. 18, with women of the conservatory staff as guests. Jan. 19, Miss McClung was entertained at dinner at the Whiting court apartment of Ralph Emrick, and that evening she was honored at a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. LaVahn Maesch, director of the conservatory of music. Also an honored guest at the function was Miss Inge Weiss, who is to be Miss McClung's replacement on the Lawrence faculty.

Jan. 20, the bride was entertained at dinner at the apartment of Dr. John Alfieri, 606 E. College avenue; on Tuesday she was guest at a luncheon given by Miss Eleanor Hise, 211 S. Oak street, and that evening she was entertained by Dr. William A. Chaney and Mrs. Horace Chaney at 215 E. Kimball street. This evening there will be a farewell dinner with Miss Marguerite Schumann as hostess at 231 E. Lawrence street.

Couple Entertains At Housewarming

Girl 'Who Knows' Takes Teacher To Task for Stand on Kindness

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: I'm a girl 17 who reads your column every day and wouldn't miss it for the world. I was very interested in the criticism you got from a high school teacher recently.

You advised a young girl to be nice to her cousin of 16 who was unmarried and expecting a baby. You suggested that the pregnant girl be included in the cousin's circle of friends as long as she wanted to be.

The high school teacher took exception to your advice and said the girl would not be accepted by her OWN friends while in that condition, so why should she force herself on others? The teacher said she had observed many pregnant, unmarried girls so she knew first-hand what it was all about.

Well, Ann, I think I know a little more about this subject than the teacher. She may be older but I lived through the experience and she only observed it. I'd like to tell the teacher if it hadn't been for the kindness of my cousin's friends I would have committed suicide. The fact that they treated me like a human being didn't make me feel that I had done no wrong. It taught me to be kind to people in trouble. In fact it made a decent person out of me.

I've always had the feeling that my presence served to remind the other girls in the group that foolish behavior didn't pay. Not one girl in that bunch went bad, Ann, and somehow I think they learned something from my unfortunate experience. — S.S.R.

DEAR ANN: I'm a woman in my early 40's who was a sergeant in the WAC motor pool during World War II. I learned by Ray Bradbery.

a lot about automobiles, naturally. "Well, what are you waiting for?" I got out of the car, slammed the door and hailed a taxi. I went home and phoned his mother and told her not to expect me.

He didn't get in until 2:30 a.m. and things have not been very pleasant around our house since. Was I wrong or was he? Please settle this. — S.G.J.

Of course your husband was a heel to suggest that you change the tire, but you shouldn't have gone off in a huff.

It would have been better had you told the big lug that you gave up changing tires when you married such a big, strong, capable man. If he then pleaded ignorance, you should have given him a dime and told him to call a garage.

The evening's program was arranged by the international relations committee, with Miss of my cousin's friends I would have committed suicide. The fact that they treated me like a human being didn't make me feel that I had done no wrong.

Dr. Helen Calmes, a state BPW board member, and Miss Myrtle Van Ryzin, Appleton club president, attended a state board meeting in Milwaukee Saturday. Miss Esther Bock will be hostess for a meeting of the Appleton BPW board Thursday.

Club to Meet

Thursday Reading club will meet at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Wilbur Spanagel, 500 E. Alice street. Mrs. Irving Isenberg will review "Dandelion Wine" during World War II. I learned by Ray Bradbery.

Trinity Women to Hold Mission Study Program

A Mission Study Day will be held by the Trinity Women's association of Trinity Lutheran church Wednesday, Jan. 29, at the parish hall. All interested churchwomen in the area have been invited to attend the all-day session.

Program events will open with 10 o'clock devotions led by the Rev. I. B. Kindem, Trinity pastor, and at 10:30, Mrs. Jerome Otteson will conduct a panel discussion on mission work. Panel members will be Mrs. Harold Lovdahl and Mrs. R. M. Rinkle, of Trinity church, and Mrs. Lawrence Schiedermeyer and Mrs. Gust Smedlund, of Our Saviour Lutheran church.

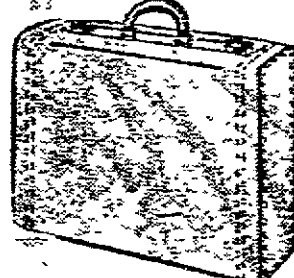

Miss Elizabeth Wright, assistant professor in religion at Lawrence college, will be featured speaker at the 1:15 afternoon assembly. She will discuss the racial problem in the United States. A film will close the program.

Women planning to attend fascinating handwork for your have been requested to bring self, your home, gifts, bazaar their lunch, with coffee and items. Send 25 cents for your dessert to be served at the hall. copy of this book today!

Beauty Exercises Help To Firm Figure

By Marian Matthews

Question.—Is there an exercise to help strengthen the bustline and prevent its sagging?

Answer.—Almost any exercise that involves using the arms will help strengthen and improve the appearance of the bust. I suggest you try this simple exercise: Raise arms to shoulder level and bend elbows so that the fist of one hand fits into the palm of the other. Then push the clenched hand hard against the palm of the other hand and resist this pressure with the palm. Do this several times and reverse using the other hand as a fist. Take up a sport such as swimming, golf and tennis if these are available in your community.

Dislikes Treatment
Question.—I have had my hair done in "tips" and do not like it. What can I do about it now?

Answer.—Since your hair is bleached for this tip effect my only suggestion is that you have as much cut off as possible and let the rest grow out. If you are still too unhappy with this, you might try a color rinse but I would seek professional help for this or you could have a second and perhaps even worse problem.

For Slim Ankles
Question.—How can I slim my ankles? I am 16.

Answer.—Exercise might be helpful and, of course if you are overweight a drop in pounds could improve ankle measurements. I do not suggest you diet, however, but merely be honest with your diet.

Cut out too rich desserts and sundaes, if you have been over-indulging in this department! Meanwhile, try this exercise: Sit in a chair with back straight and feet firmly on floor (you can wear shoes or not). Raise one leg so that it is level with the chair seat and turn foot in circles. Reverse direction and circle foot again. Do about a half dozen times in each direction then do exercise with other foot.

4th Military Ball Set Jan. 25 at Conway

Valley chapter, Reserve Officers' association, will stage its fourth annual Military Ball Saturday night at the Conway hotel. All veterans, reservists and regular armed service personnel have been invited to the event.

A cocktail hour from 7 to 9 o'clock in the hotel's Garden room will open the evening and a local orchestra has been engaged for the dance. Preferred dress for male guests will be service uniform, with feminine party-goers to don formal attire for the party, according to Maj. Lawrence Thein, USAFR, dance chairman.

Major Thein is being assisted by Maj. Russell Hall.

USAR, and Warrent Officer Robert Miller, who are handling tickets and arrangements.

Culbertson on Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

There isn't much that a pair can do when the other side has the vast preponderance of high cards and distributional values but there is occasional compensation for the underdogs. For example, there is the lead-directing slam double.

This device, first proposed by an early Culbertson associate, T. A. Lightner, of New York, operates on the principal that slams which are bid by competent opponents cannot usually be doubled with impunity or profit; hence, when they are doubled, there is a special reason. If the doubler has the opening lead, no special considerations apply, but if the other defender puts in the double, the Lightner theory (which is followed by all first-rank players) is that he is angling for a certain lead. Since, in the absence of a double, the presumption is that the leader would open a suit not bid by the enemy, the double reverses this and calls for a different lead — the "unnatural opening" in expert parlance.

It is true that the leader cannot always be sure about what is expected of him — from his point of view, there may be more than one unnatural lead — but in a large number of cases the issue is clarified by the op-

unbid club suit, but when East doubled the six-diamond contract, West had only to look at his heart length to select a lead in that suit. East ruffed and laid down the club ace, and that was that — 400 points for the defense. Of course East could have made it 800 points by underleading the club ace and getting another heart ruff, but the only thing that would have justified that play was a clear

peek at the club king in West's

In any event, the lead-directing double proved to be quite a boon to East-West.

Our Children

How to Teach All Pupils A Perplexing Problem

BY ANGELO PATRI

Any class in a public school is a cross section of the community. There will be a few highly intelligent, fast-learning pupils, a few decidedly slow learners, and the big in-between group will be the main body of the class and give it strength and vitality.

Conscientious parents and teachers are asking, as they have always asked, "What can we do with the two extreme groups?" It is clear that they cannot be merged successfully as to progress but what is to be done to give each group all the education they can accept?

Nobody has answered that question to everybody's satisfaction yet. The limitations of finance, space, staff, have rendered this situation almost insoluble. All kinds of solutions have been tried without marked success. We segregated the gifted, the average, the dull with scant returns either in the personal satisfaction of pupils.

Plan Coffee Hours for Blood Center Workers

Two coffee hours have been planned for Community Blood Center volunteer workers at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, Jan. 28.

Mrs. John Milhaupt, Pali-sades drive, chairman of the technicians committee, will entertain the seven volunteer technicians who have been working at the center, while Mrs. Frank Manier and Mrs. Charles Hawkinson, co-chairmen of the transportation committee, will entertain the 22 women who, working in pairs each week, transport blood from the center to the hospitals. The transportation coffee will be at the Manier home, 1423 W. Oakcrest drive.

Parents Reveal Engagement of Doris Hoffmann

Mr. and Mrs. Matt Hoffmann, Sr., 1713 N. Alvin street, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Doris to Cyril Stadler, son of Mrs. Cecilia Stadler, 915 W. Harris street. Miss Hoffmann, a graduate of Appleton High school, is employed at Integrity Mutuals insurance company. Her fiancé is employed at Superior Electric company. Wedding plans have not been announced.

ever really prepared for them. The average group missed the lift of the brighter ones and did not do quite as well as when they were present in the class. The sub-normals, without the lift the brighter children always gave them, failed miserably and the teacher was submerged in difficulties. So we tried again.

We had a big school of about 4,000 pupils. We selected a program teacher whose duty it was to consult with each grade teacher and arrange special individual programs that allowed each child the fullest opportunities for his growth and development.

A child could be in advanced class in science and in the regular one in English. According to his needs the pupil was assigned. That worked much better.

It's an administration problem and it can be solved, with that they had nowhere to go the help of the board of education and be at ease. No place was catton.

Italian Couturier Snubs 'Sack', Sashes Waist

Florence, Italy —(U)—Emilio Frederick Schuberth is having none of high fashion's current trend toward shorter skirts and the sack style. In fact, he's going the other way.

Presenting his new spring and summer line last night Schuberth started some 600 foreign buyers and fashion writers with sashed waists and long skirts.

He dropped the hemline to 11-12 inches from the floor, lower than it has been since Christian Dior's "new look" revolution of 11 years ago.

Middle were tightly bound. Panels floated from below the waists. They were panels of print over solid colored sheaths.

Schuberth was the first of nine "high fashion" designers to show in the Florence round club was entertained by Mrs. Bernard Pozolinski. Named Earlier shows in Florence featured sportswear and casuals, including skirts above the sunshine club head

Baby-Tears

Indoor Gardening Baby-Tears a Dainty Plant; Needs Moisture in Root Area

BY KATHERINE B. WALKER

I don't see how anyone who loves plants can see a pot of baby-tears (Helxine soleiroli) without wanting it. Its tiny, bright-green leaves creeping over the soil look so fresh and dainty, and it spills over the pot-sides so eagerly. I'm always buying plants of it even when I don't have room for them.

Usually I set small pots of baby-tears between larger ones of African-violets or gloxinias or some other plant which has comparable cultural requirements. A year or so ago, however, I was given a small redwood container (originally intended for use as an outdoor bird-feeder. I'm sure!), and it seemed like an ideal spot for my newest plant of baby-tears.

With small ferns in the background to lend height the planting formed an ideal setting for the Saint Francis statue which came with the container.

In this particular instance, the baby-tears did very well, creeping thru the ferns and spilling over the edges of the wood, although table planters seldom furnish the right conditions for it.

Baby-tears needs constant moisture at the roots, usually provided by setting the pot on damp sand or moss, or by setting the pot at the top of a pyramid of graduated-size pots, partially filled with soil. This plant isn't fussy about soil, although it seems to prefer a rich loam; and it isn't very particular about temperature, although it enjoys warmth.

It is definite, however, in its dislike for direct sun, since this burns the leaves and dries out the stems, so keep it shaded at all times. Propagation of baby-tears is by division of the plant: cut or tear a clump into pieces of the size of a quarter and press these gently into damp soil to root.

Questions and Answers

Some of the plants I have ordered by mail have arrived in plastic pots. Can these pots be purchased from some source?

Yes, plastic pots are available by mail-order in marbled colors from 2 1/2-inch size to 10-inch, with saucers to match the larger ones. Plastic pots with cemented-on saucers are also available.

I was given a plant of Spanish Shawl; when can I expect bloom?

Spanish Shawl (schizocentron elegans) usually flowers during spring and early summer.

How many different kinds of peperomia are there? I want to start a collection of these, and they already have five different ones.

One source lists 24 named varieties of peperomia, and it is possible you might find more than that.

Why do the tips of the leaves of my avocado plant turn brown?

This is usually due to dry air.

Who started the fad of growing plants (not aquatic plants) in water? You mention this so often, I wondered if you knew where the practice started.

Just where or when this started, I don't know, but I believe it began with Aglaonema simplex, known as Chinese evergreen. I would imagine that some resourceful dealer in Hong Kong or Canton, where this plant is grown primarily for export, might have displayed it in a jar of water and discovered that the plant would root and grow well in this medium for a long time.

C&NW Leases Warehouse Space To Plywood Firm

The Chicago and North Western Railway company has leased 6,500 square feet of space in its Appleton warehouse on W. Franklin street to the Kochton Plywood company, of Chicago, Milwaukee and Green Bay, according to Fred Kurth, railway agent.

The space was created by changes in the railway's "less-than-carload-lots" policy. Under this policy, railway trucks do not pick up or deliver loads of less than a freight carload to one address.

The plywood firm is using the warehouse space to store plywood and veneer shipments. About 1,500 square feet of space at the warehouse still is being used by the railway.

Discount Rate Cut Effect Seen As Long-Range

Result Expected
By Bank Officers

Neenah — A long-range effect, rather than anything immediate, was foreseen as possible by officials of the four Twin City banks because the federal reserve board Tuesday lowered the discount rate of one of its member banks.

The officials agreed that there would be no immediate effect on the local level and several added that in the long run it might lead to an easing of credit.

The reduction of the discount rate and a subsequent reduction by several of the country's largest banks in their prime rate, which is a rate for extremely large commercial loans to corporations with top credit, is expected to encourage borrowing and stimulate business.

One bank official stated that this might enable a bank to make loans they were unable to make earlier. The lowering of the discount rate enables member banks of the federal reserve system to borrow money at a lower interest rate than before.

Another bank official pointed out the reduction returns the rate to the level of several months ago and will eventually have an effect on local loaning.

A third bank officer said that more important than the mechanics of the reduction is the trend toward an easing of credit.

Twin City Deaths

John A. Nespodany

Menasha — John A. Nespodany, 74, 809 Sixth street, died at 5:20 Tuesday afternoon after a long illness. He was born June 5, 1883 in Milwaukee and lived in Menasha 38 years, coming here from Medford. He was employed at the Whiting Paper company.

Funeral services will be held at 9 o'clock Saturday morning at St. John Catholic church with burial in the parish cemetery. Friends may call at the Laemmrich Funeral home after 7 o'clock Thursday evening. The rosary will be recited there at 8 o'clock Friday evening.

Survivors include the widow; two daughters, Mrs. Frank Sobieski and Mrs. Leona Winch, both of Menasha; two sons, Florian and Paul, Menasha; two stepdaughters, Mrs. Frank Laskowski, Pulaski, and Mrs. Dan Spakowicz, Green Bay; two stepsons, Steve and Alvin Baranczyk, Pulaski; three brothers, Michael and Stanley, Pulaski, and Peter, Bessemer, Mich.; two sisters, Mrs. Alex Gajewski, Menasha, and Mrs. Albert Carlson, Milwaukee; nine grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren.

John F. Danke

Neenah — John F. Danke, 71, 724 Vine avenue, Oshkosh, died at 12:45 this morning at Oshkosh after a three year illness. He was born April 30, 1869 in the town of Clayton and farmed there for a number of years. He founded the Sunlite Dairy and also was employed at the Payne Lumber company in Oshkosh, retiring in 1953. Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon at the Westgor Funeral home with the Rev. Harvey Norenberg, pastor of Immanuel's Evangelical and Reformed church in charge. Burial will be in Oak Hill cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon. The widow and a brother, Arthur, are the only survivors.

Ward Lines, Voting Places Shown on New Neenah Maps

Neenah — Maps indicating the new ward boundaries and polling places in Neenah will be posted throughout the city sometime next week. City Clerk R. V. Hauser announced this morning.

The maps will be posted in paper mills and other plants and in many business establishments, as well as at the city hall.

All ward boundaries and many polling places were changed late last year when the city was redistricted into 10 wards. The April 1 election will be the first held under the new system.

Commander Lists VFW Activities

Menasha — Veterans of Foreign Wars activities were cited today by Commander Robert C. Johnson of Nicolet Post No. 2126, in connection with the current observance of National VFW week.

Johnson pointed out the VFW was the first veteran group to sponsor the annual nationwide sale of memorial poppies, beginning in 1922. Proceeds from its sales go to help maintain the National VFW home for members' orphans and widows at Eaton Rapids, Mich., the only one of its kind owned and operated by any veteran organization.

VFW posts also help through community service projects and one such activity is the local wheelchair race with the Disabled American Veterans chapter to raise funds for the March of Dimes. Loyalty day, adopted in 1950 by the VFW, was observed last year in 859 communities with May 1 being Loyalty day to counteract the communist "May Day" demonstrations.

March of Dimes Contributions Have aided these two Twin City youngsters who are polio victims and each week must receive physical therapy treatments at Theda Clark hospital in addition to wearing leg braces supplied through the March of Dimes. Bonnie Britzke, daughter of the John Britzkes, Tayco street road, Menasha, looks at herself in the mirror in the upper picture while Miss Mary Kay Effinger, a physiotherapist, watches as Randy Stutzman, son of the Darrell Stutzmans of 312 Oak street, Neenah, attempts to fasten one of his braces. Clinics Needed by Normal Persons As Well as Mentally Ill, Council Told

Specialists Tell of Guidance Work at
Eau Claire Unit

Menasha — Family guidance clinics are for normal people with problems, not only for the mentally ill, three authorities on the subject stressed Tuesday afternoon. Two members of the Eau Claire county guidance clinic, Dr. John Thurston and Walter Conner, and Dr. Keith Keane of Appleton, spoke at the monthly meeting of the Neenah-Menasha Community Council at the Elks club.

The Community council has gone on record as favoring a child guidance clinic in Winnebago county, to be supported in part by taxes and maintained by the county department of public welfare.

Conner, a psychiatric social worker and assistant director of the Eau Claire clinic, said there are about 10 million mentally ill persons in the United States, and that if the present trend continues one school child in every 12 will need care in a mental hospital sometime during his life.

Can Prevent Illness
Guidance clinics provide one means of preventing this pre-latest time accident, he stated, and that if the present trend continues one school child in every 12 will need care in a mental hospital sometime during his life.

Other services available to persons approaching mental illness are private psychiatric care, mental hospitals and mental units in other hospitals.

At the present time there are 17 such clinics in Wisconsin, which served about 3,200 persons in about 24,000 private interviews during 1957.

Conner teamed with Dr. Thurston, chief clinical psychologist at Eau Claire, and Dr. Keane, psychiatrist formerly associated with the Manitowish-Sheboygan guidance clinic, to demonstrate a typical case in the guidance clinic routine, stop for a patient in the office of the psychiatric social worker, who takes and studies his case, and psychiatrist. It is social history.

The patient then sees the psychologist who is to determine approximately what kind of personality he has. If the patient is a child, the parents are also usually interviewed. The psychiatrist also interviews the patient and parents. Sometimes a neurological examination is made, if the doctors think it may help to understand the patient.

If the patient is a child, he is observed while at play with his parents.

Clovis Park Area Will be Drained

Council to Have Site Surveyed;
Part of $1 Million Sewer Job

Menasha — The first step in the proposed drainage of the Clovis addition was taken Tuesday night when the council hired McMahon Engineering company, Menasha, to survey the property and make recommendations.

Mayor R. G. DuCharme informed aldermen proper drainage of the Clovis addition will open up the area, which is located in the northeastern section of the city, for good home building lots. Drainage is also needed because the new Clovis elementary school is located there, DuCharme pointed out.

The drainage of the Clovis addition will also serve as an initial step in a $1 million cross city storm sewer project which has been in the planning stages for many years, the aldermen were informed.

The terms of Menasha park board commissioners were readjusted by the council Tuesday night. Effective Feb. 1 Commissioners E. R. Rundquist, Hillard Walbrun, John Fitzpatrick, and Edward Wasikiewicz will begin serving three year terms; Thomas Calder, Mrs. George Pratt and Clifford Heiss, two year terms, and Edward Gavinski, Cyril Reuter and Floyd Fenske, one year terms.

Prepare New Routes
Health Officer H. O. Haugh and City Engineer Melvin Noth were assigned to prepare new plans for a safety poster and slogan contest for school children. Funds from the dance being sponsored by the association on Feb. 11 at the Oshkosh Elks club will be used to finance the contest.

The contest will run during March and entries are to be turned into the sheriff's office by April 5. The posters must be no smaller than 24 by 24 inches in size nor larger than 36 by 36 inches in size.

The name of the student with his school, grade and age is to be put on the back of the poster in the lower right corner. The safety slogan, which does not have to rhyme, is to be placed on the front at the bottom.

The posters will become the property of the sheriff's department and will not be returned. Children may have help for ideas but must make the poster drawing and safety slogan themselves.

Trophies
Awards will consist of a grand trophy to the school of the student whose entry is judged the best, a trophy to the winning student and other prizes which will be given to the first, second and third place winners in grades one through eight.

These prizes will be clock radios for first place, flash cameras for second prize and desk set for third place.

The winners will be contacted after all the posters are judged. Posters will be judged on neatness, originality and the thought it conveyed regarding safety.

Chairman of the safety contest is Ervin Hardtke and he is being assisted by Robert Fugleberg and Wilbur G. Fuller.

Twin City Births

Neenah — Theda Clark hospital today reported the following births:

Twins, son and daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Schoening, 813 De Pere street, Menasha.

Sons to:
Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Hansen, 2821 Tayco street, Menasha.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Klemm, 961 Hunt avenue, Neenah.

Daughters to:
Mr. and Mrs. Otto Zoesch, 829 Third street, Menasha.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wolff, 313 Broad street, Menasha.

Rubbish Collection

Neenah — Rubbish will be collected Thursday in the Eighth ward east of the Chicago and North Western railway tracks and in the First ward between Laudan boulevard and Fairview avenue, according to City Clerk R. V. Hauser.

enlarged disposal plant is ready for full operation.

A "no parking" sign will be erected at the first Main street parking space at the Bank of Menasha and the parking meter at that spot will be moved to Chute street due to council action.

Mayor DuCharme was instructed to get estimates on the cost of having the city office roof repaired. He also will contact Frank Hageman, insurance counselor, regarding a new contract.

The council approved the planning commission's permit to Donald Verbrick for a home

Milwaukee Judge to Talk at DSA Dinner

Jaycees to Honor 'Outstanding Young Man of Twin Cities', High School Students

Menasha — Chosen as speaker for the Distinguished Service award dinner at the Elks club Monday night is Judge John L. Coffey of Milwaukee, who last year was named one of the five outstanding young men of the state. Sponsor of the dinner is the Neenah-Menasha Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The Twin Cities "outstanding young man of the year" will be named at the banquet. Winner of the award last year was William Herziger. Meritorious service awards also will be presented to outstanding students from Neenah, Menasha and St. Mary High schools.

Judge Coffey received his bachelor of law degree from Marquette university. In 1949 he was appointed an assistant city attorney for Milwaukee and in April of 1955 was elected to the civil court bench.

He was the first man to win were called to the Perlie Hill both the Milwaukee "Outstanding home at 382 Pine street at 8:15 ing Young Man" award and the Tuesday night to put out a state's "Five Outstanding chimney fire. There was no Young Men" award which are damage.

Aldermen Swap Land With Red Owl Company

Each Party to Receive Equal Amount Of Property; Park Board Approves Deal

Menasha — Exchange of an equal amount of land between Menasha and Red Owl, Inc., in an area bordered by Appleton road, and Seventh and Harding streets was unanimously approved by the city council Tuesday night.

According to the resolution, Red Owl will give the city six-tenths of an acre of land it purchased from Mrs. William H. Jensen for an equal amount of city owned Seventh street playground property.

Red Owl will then own all the property bordering on Appleton road and proposes to build a supermarket on the site. All the property in back of the Red Owl land will be provided by the city council Tuesday night.

The resolution declared the exchange was made for safety reasons because part of the playground area adjoined Appleton road which is a state highway. The Red Owl company also will put up a fence in back of its property along the playground line.

Red Owl agreed to pay the city $600 to help defray the cost of constructing a new basketball court to replace the one the city will lose because of the exchange.

Monday night the park board which is in charge of the city's playground areas, unanimously approved the exchange.

2 Neenah Area Farmers Speak At Winneconne

100 Persons at Third Soil Short Course Meeting

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau

Oshkosh — Two Neenah area farmers were among the speakers at the third soil short course meeting Tuesday night at the Winneconne village hall. About 100 persons attended the meeting at which Arthur Peterson, University of Wisconsin soils specialist, was the principal speaker.

Clarence Meyer, route 2, Neenah, told how he used a chisel plow to break the soil to a depth of 10 to 12 inches and then followed that with a sub-soiler to penetrate the ground to a greater depth. An area in a field where there are greater water holding pockets probably should have tilling done, he commented.

Laurel Heaney, town of Neenah, told of experiences he had in fields with a heavy underlay of silt clay. He found that deeper plowing improved the drainage problem.

Lawrence Bradley, route 1, Pickett, also spoke on the use of a sub-soiler which, while it loosened and brought stones to the ground level, had a disadvantage in that in some cases poor track coverage resulted when plowed after sub-soiling. The plow share also did not scout as well.

Wheel Track Planting
Peterson spoke highly of wheel track planting of corn which consists of plowing, ground and planting corn immediately without additional preparation in the wheel track. The elimination of working the seed bed and labor shows that wheel track planting can save about $5 per acre.

Peterson told of work being done at the agricultural experimental station at Valders which should be of interest to Winnebago county farmers because of the likeness in soil type and condition.

Soil treatment must vary with the soil type conditions on the farm and in some cases, sub-soiling may be beneficial, he told the group.

The fourth and final meeting of the series will be at the Omro Masonic hall Feb. 11 at which problems on water level, tilling, surface draining and terracing will be discussed.

Cars Damaged in Crash on Icy Street

Neenah — Two cars were damaged in an accident at 8:09 this morning at King and Henry streets. The front of an auto driven by Gordon G. Bartel, 30 1206 Main street, and the left side and right door of a car driven by Clement E. Skilling, 51, route 2, Menasha, were damaged. Skid marks of 80 feet by Bartel's car on the icy street were noted by police.

Order 70 Barrels
Seventy barrels of crack filler were ordered from the Farley serve armory. It was pointed out the dump truck, chain saw and portable generator.

Aldermen granted all Me-Mayor DuCharme's reports on this year in place of legal holidays. Police Chief Peter Clark can evaluate and determine costumes of foreign countries. At next week's meeting, the Ald. Lee Rather commended Mrs. Alvin Thums and Mrs. Walter Jurgenson are the lead-ers.

John was instructed to see that the south side of Main street, from the Brin theater to the city office was kept shoveled. Ald. Robert Mielke said he had received a number of complaints that the sidewalks were never clear.

Monetary credits were made by the council to Charles Hecker, 208 Prospect street, who was erroneously charged $7.04 for sidewalk repair work; John Rieschl, who was assessed $4.50 too much and to the United States government which was charged for $145 for curb and gutter work at the Menasha Re-Clean-up committee members.

3 Specialists Tell Workings, Need of Clinics

toys in the clinic, and also with other children.

All three authorities meet to report on the causes of the patient's mental disturbances and the possible remedies. The case is followed through with psychiatric help, if necessary.

"This is not a cure-all, but it helps," said Corner. "and the saving in dollars is unmeasurable."

The group said that the largest obstacle in starting such a guidance clinic is overcoming public ignorance. The term mental health is automatically associated with mental illness said Corner, but mental health is actually nothing more than peace of mind.

"If three or four mentally ill persons came in during a year, we would think it very many," he said. During 1956 the Eau Claire clinic handled about 160 cases. Figures for 1957 are not available yet.

"But the clinic might keep a child from the mental hospital or jail. If we save one child a year from mental illness, it is worth all the cost of the budget," he concluded.

A clinic with a minimum staff of one full-time psychiatrist, social worker, and a part-time psychologist, and a part-time psychiatrist would cost somewhere between $20,000 and $30,000 annually, the group said.

A portion of this comes from fees paid by the patients. The Eau Claire clinic has three part-time psychiatrists, two full-time psychologists and one full-time and one half-time psychiatric social worker.

Speaker Tells Club Of Schweitzer Visit, Ghana Independence

Neenah — Political and spiritual impressions of Africa, referred to a "continent of ferment and turmoil," were related to Woman's Tuesday club members Tuesday afternoon by a journalist-pastor, who has watched the birth of a nation and twice visited an internationally-known humanitarian on that continent.

Dr. Homer Jack, pastor of the Unitarian church, Evanston, Ill., joined over 200 journalists from throughout the world at the independence celebrations in Ghana last March and then spent two weeks as the guest of Dr. Albert Schweitzer at his jungle hospital at Lambarene in French Equatorial Africa.

The most moving and exciting event during the celebration, said Dr. Jack, "was that magic evening of March 5, when the Gold Coast was to become Ghana." He told of the silence in the throng of over 100,000 people when the Union Jack was lowered for the last time in the former British colony and the new flag of Ghana raised.

Interviews Minister The speaker, who had a private interview with Ghana Prime Minister Kwame Nkrumah, said, "I found him to be a very personable diplomat. I found him very modest and knowledgeable in world affairs." Kwame Nkrumah "was able to absorb a great deal of Americana" during the years 1935-45 when he lived and studied in the United States, said Dr. Jack.

British Scientists Said to Be Set to Announce Victory

BY NORMAN MOSS

Harwell, England.—From a bleak, windy airfield nestling in the hills outside this village, RAF planes once roared off to startle the world with the first 1,000-plane bomber raid. Today this field, still bleak and windy, is once again a place where history is being made.

Cockcroft

The outtime air base is now Britain's atomic energy research establishment, where scientists are making vital advances in understanding and using the atom.

The latest of these experiments may prove the most important yet. This was aimed at harnessing for peace the immense power of atomic fusion, the power of the hydrogen bomb. An announcement of a victory in this field is expected Thursday.

A barbed wire fence still surrounds the field as it did in wartime days, but no place could be farther in spirit from a service base.

Harwell is a working community of scientists run the way scientists want it run. Its atmosphere, despite the barbed wire and guards, is that of an intellectually high-powered campus.

Program Began in 1945
Tweed-suited, youthful-looking men in their thirties talk about their work enthusiastically, and set about it in an easy-going manner. Dramatic things are being done here, but nothing is done dramatically.

Back in 1945, the British government decided on a crash program to give this country peaceful atomic power, and its own atom bomb too. But scientists, many of them pulled out of cloistered university lives for war work, were not enthusiastic.

Some top ones insisted they would come in only if the center were run by one of their number, Sir John Cockcroft, and not by a government official as a civil service department.

Cockcroft, a homely, mild-mannered physicist and Nobel prize winner who helped build the first atom bomb, is a representative of a new type of man the postwar years have thrown up: a brilliant scientist and an able administrator, who knows his way around the invisible world of the atom and the high circles of government.

He took over Harwell from the RAF in 1946, and the scientists moved in and started building the first nuclear pile in a cold and stuffy hangar.

6,000 on Staff
The hangars are still there, though transformed and no longer recognizable. And they are heated — some by piped steam drawn off a working atomic pile.

Now Harwell has a staff of 6,000, and is organized into divisions, each with its own field of study. These range from nuclear isotopes to medically useful isotopes, from fundamental research to atomic safety. The work is all research; Britain's atomic electricity and atomic weapons are produced elsewhere.

Harwell's scientists have put crowded, power-hungry Britain ahead of the rest of the world in the peaceful development of atomic power. The eyes of Britain are on Harwell men and Harwell achievements, as they were on the men of that wartime airfield, and this helps keep morale high here.

Visits by dignitaries ranging from Queen Elizabeth to Khrushchev and Bulganin — on their 1956 visit to Britain — have helped keep Harwell in the world spotlight.

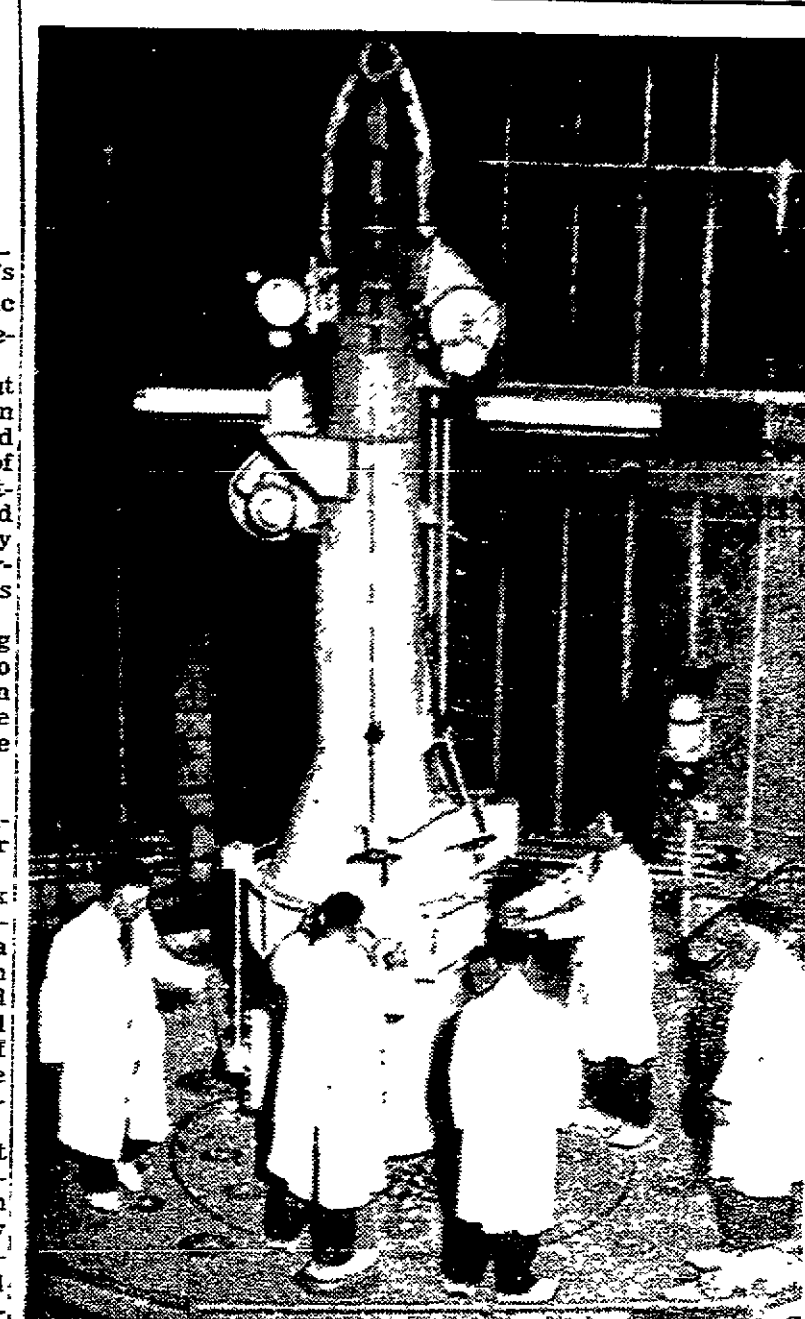

Success Indicated
With the H-power experiment, the spotlight is brighter than ever.

In one of these white brick laboratories, a team of scientists led by an Australian, a Canadian and an Englishman are believed to have carried out an experiment that resulted in the fusion of two atoms of processed hydrogen into one atom. This released a microscopic amount of energy.

But this microscopic amount may be of world-shaking significance. At Eniwetok, a billion hydrogen atoms fused. They produced the explosion of energy that dissolved the atoll and threw up to the skies the biggest and most terrifying mushroom cloud the world has ever seen.

Ever since then, scientists have sought a way of fusing just a few hydrogen atoms, and so producing this fantastic in small, manageable quantities. The Harwell experiment, if it proves successful, as expected, will be the first time this energy has been tapped on a non-explosive scale. Though H-power for industry may still be 10 years of work away, this would be a major breakthrough.

Invited to tour Harwell with a party of newspapermen a

Scientists Gather Around a rocket-shaped fuel element container at Britain's Harwell atomic energy research establishment where vital advances are being made in understanding and using the atom. The element container, lined with a 12-inch wall of lead, is used for extracting fuel elements and conveying them to the storage block. It sits atop the Dido reactor, most powerful in western Europe. Harwell's scientists have put power-hungry Britain ahead in the peaceful use of atomic power. (AP Wirephoto) while ago, I was surprised to find that I was not security as much to a Harwell official. I said checked. And surprised again when I found one of the party good or bad security risks," was a Russian newsman on-he said.

Late Neenah Woman Left Over $53,000

Inventory Filed in Court on Property of Anna Rather

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau
Oshkosh — The estate of the late Anna Rather of Neenah was placed at $53,348 in an inventory filed Tuesday with County Judge Herbert J. Mueller. Wills of two Neenah women also were admitted.

After bequests of $1,000 each to two sons-in-law and two daughters-in-law, the rest of the Rather estate will be divided into one-fourth shares. A share will go to her son, Lee Rather. Menasha, a share to her daughter, Mrs. I. W. Andersen, route 2, Neenah, one share to the children of a deceased son, William A. Rather, Neenah, and the fourth share going to the children of a deceased daughter, Mrs. Gerald M. Jeffery, Menasha.

Those grandchildren are William A., Judith Ann, John and Richard Rather, all of Neenah; Betty Jeffery Tobin of Norfolk, Va.; Gerald Jeffery, Jr., Camp Pendleton, Calif.; Donald R. Jeffery, Bethesda, Md.; and Janet Jeffery, Menasha.

Will Admitted
The will of the late Sara J. Thomas of Neenah, who died Jan. 10, left her estate estimated at $10,000 in personal property to her four daughters. They are Luella T. Gabel and Elizabeth T. Rasmussen of Oshkosh, Martha T. Curran of Neenah and Wilma T. Sader of Fremont.

A division of her estate into one-fourth shares also was contained in the will of the late Martha D. Demerath of Neenah who died Jan. 11. Each of her children will receive a one-fourth share. They are Ruth G. Bell, Appleton, and Walter G. Demerath, Valeria M. Bolerman and Sylvester H. Demerath, all of Neenah. Her estate was estimated at $13,000 in personal property and $12,000 in real estate.

Ordered distributed to the heirs was the $14,798 estate of the late Nicholas M. Paulowski of Menasha who died July 26, 1956. The shares his children will receive are $4,266 each by Barbara Paulowski, Green Bay and Robert and Edmund Paulowski of Menasha and $1,000 each by Rosella Maleika, Almagorda, N.M., and Rita Schreiber, Menasha.

Tangy Sauce Adds New Flavor to Fresh Broccoli

Here is a sauce with a bit of a tang that can bring new glamor to one of the most colorful and flavorful of all winter vegetables.

Broccoli Supreme
1½ pounds fresh broccoli
2 tablespoons butter
1 cup flour
1 pint milk
1/3 teaspoon salt
pinch ground black pepper
pinch powdered dry mustard
1 hard cooked egg, chopped
1 tablespoon parsley, chopped

Wash broccoli carefully. Remove leaves and lower sections of stems. Cook in boiling, salted water until just tender. Drain.

Melt butter. Add flour and cook slowly for five minutes.

Heat milk with an onion containing three whole cloves. Remove onion and cloves. Add hot milk to flour and butter mixture; also add salt, pepper and mustard. Stir until smooth. Cook 15 to 20 minutes over slow fire. Remove from heat. Strain and add chopped eggs. Ladle sauce over stems of hot broccoli. Dust with chopped parsley.

Tullar 4-H Club Installs Officers

Neenah — Tullar 4-H club installed its officers and planned several future programs at its meeting Tuesday night at Tullar school. Kathy Cummings served as installing officer. The officers are James Winters, president; Everal Pelton, Jr., vice president; Carol Patton, secretary; Carol Tingley, treasurer, and Kathy Cummings, reporter.

Mrs. Harvey Casperson is the new general leader and Birt Oberlies will serve as leader for the photography project, a new 4-H activity this year.

The club made plans for a bake sale at the Winnebago Sporting Goods store Feb. 1 and for the Feb. 18 program at which Barbara Heath, Susan Pelton and Patsy Wisneski will give a demonstration. On the refreshment committee for that meeting will be Dick Collins, Barbara Kirchberg and Fred Kampe while on the entertainment committee will be Patsy Wisneski and Sandy Van Airsdale.

Goldenrod Eggs Served on Rice

For a variation of Eggs Goldenrod, serve them over fluffy white rice and garnish with sieved egg yolks.

Melt two tablespoons butter in a saucepan. Stir in 3 tablespoons flour, one teaspoon salt and one-fourth teaspoon black pepper.

Cook several minutes, stirring. Slowly stir in one cup milk. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens slightly. Stir in one-half cup condensed cream of mushroom soup, one-fourth cup water and six hard-cooked egg whites sliced.

Serve over rice and garnish with the egg yolks which have been put through a sieve.

Banta Credit Union Annual Meeting Set

Menasha — The Banta Credit union will hold its annual meeting at 8 o'clock Saturday night at the Elks club. Dancing and lunch will follow the business session.

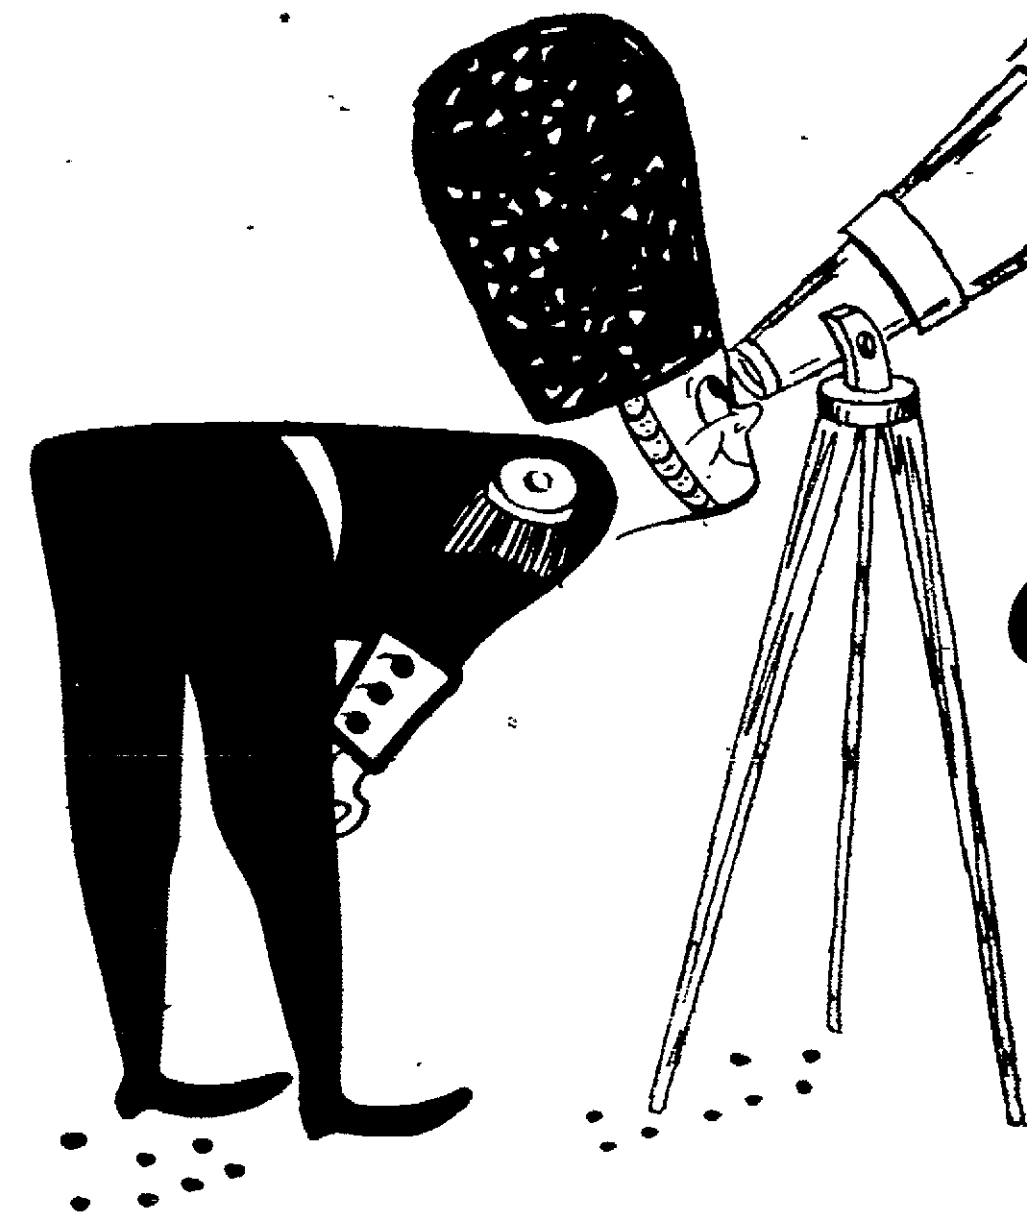

Directors whose terms expire at this meeting are Roger Harrmann, Charles Miller, Edwin Rocks and Alfred Becher while the credit committee member whose term expires is Raymond Tuchscherer.

The credit union paid a 3½ per cent per annum dividend last year. Personal loans came to $368,895 and real estate loans to $55,982. Assets of the credit union amounted to $630,115. There were 796 loans made during the year.

The Light Sweet Cherries so aptly termed Royal Annes make this Bavarian cream a truly regal dessert. The canned fruit is pitted and chopped for the cream, but left whole for the garnish.

Delicious Dessert

Canned Sweet Cherries Flavor Bavarian Cream

All of us have our favorites among the many delicious canned fruits that are available today. This year we will specially appreciate them because of the reduced supply of Florida citrus fruit, usually so plentiful this time of year.

The Pacific northwest supplies us liberally with large sweet cherries which may be dark red or blushing white. The latter are known as Royal Annes and that descriptive adjective is well deserved. They are good enough to be served just after chilling and without any additions, although you may like to add a little rum or brandy.

Either the dark or the light cherries may be used in a Bavarian cream. They must be pitted when used in combination with the gelatin and the cream. Some should be reserved for a garnish.

A Bavarian cream flavored in any fashion is always a favorite dessert.

As good quality ice cream may be purchased just around the corner nowadays, the made-dessert is even more a treat. It is not difficult to prepare, but needs to be made some time ahead as the gelatin mixture must be allowed time to thicken before the other ingredients are added.

Royal Cherry Bavarian
1 con. (No. 25) Royal Anne cherries
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1 cup cherry syrup

Dash salt
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1/2 cup sugar
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
Drain cherries, reserving the reduced supply of Florida syrup, and pit. Reserve six or eight cherries for garnishing and chop remainder.

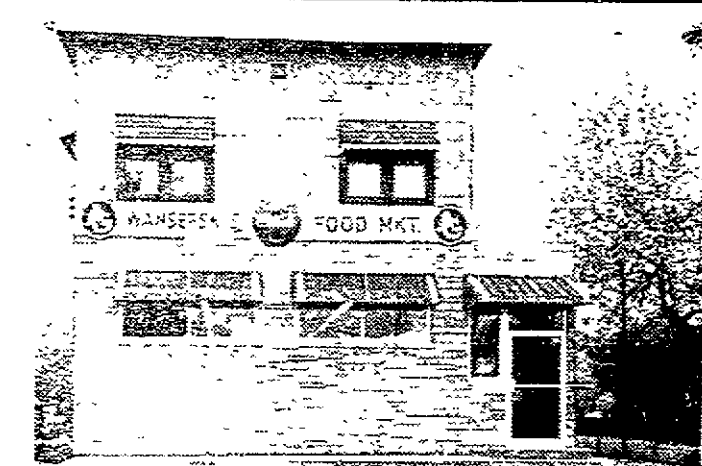

Soften gelatin in syrup and dissolve over hot water. Add salt, lemon juice and sugar. Stir until sugar is dissolved. Chill until mixture is syrupy. Fold in whipped cream and chopped cherries. Pour into individual molds and chill until whole cherries, and small green leaves, if available.

Spanish Cream
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1 cup cold water
2 cups milk, scalded
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
1/3 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
2 egg whites, stiffly beaten
Soften gelatin in cold water about five minutes. Dissolve in scalded milk.

Combine slightly beaten egg yolks, sugar and salt, and stir in the hot mixture. Cook until slightly thickened, about five minutes.

Cool and, when mixture begins to set, add vanilla extract and fold in stiffly beaten egg whites.

Pour in serving dish and chill until set. Turn out and garnish with dark cherries.

Farm Efficiency Needs Power Tools in Repair

Poor Machinery May Cause Accidents, Prevent Proper Performance of Job

When the horse was the main power tool on the farm, public opinion made the farmer take good care of him. Today, however, when machines have replaced Dobbin, it is up to the farmer himself to see that they're in good condition. Perhaps no other operation on the farm pays bigger dividends than keeping power tools in good shape. Very little farm work today is done without their help.

Efficiency of the farm depends on the good repair of power tools. Machinery in poor shape is a potential accident hazard.

More Complicated
As the power tool has become more important to farm work, it has become more complicated. The repair of early power tools was easily within the ability of most farmers.

Today, however, haywire repair not only fails a stopgap, it lessens the life of the expensive tool and endangers the life of the operator.

High schools in rural communities today recognize this need on the farm and extensive agricultural vocational courses are taught which include great chunks of mechanical know-how.

In the last decade the tractor has become the center of farm work. Its reliable power, when it is in good repair, not only takes over the draft jobs of Dobbin but transmits its energy to sundry other farm machines.

The agriculture vocational course in rural high schools gives the student an understanding of the operation of farm machinery and some knowledge of its repair. This repair knowledge, however, must depend on possession of an extensive and expensive supply of tools to be effective.

Workshop on Farm
Many farms have such workshops and in the years to come perhaps welding gear and other mechanic's tools will be as much a part of the farm scene as the thresher or combine.

This kind of workshop, however, would be a duplication of professional shops in rural centers that exist today and the economic wisdom of the existence of the farm shop could be questioned.

Although a farmer with long experience may understand the woes of his livestock, he turns to a professional man when he has trouble and doesn't dream of setting up a veterinarian hospital in the barn.

State's Timber Forest Proves Crop's Value

46-Acre Plot Yields 118,000 Board Feet In Last 10 Years

Amery — A 46-acre plot of land near here is proving that trees can be a productive Wisconsin crop.

Fred Trenk, University of Wisconsin forester, reports that the Apple River Timber Harvest forest has yielded 118,000 board feet of logs in the last 10 years. Latest measurements now show there is more timber on the forest than back in 1947.

The tract is owned by the Wisconsin conservation department. Trenk, in cooperation with the department, is using the area as a demonstration plot in continuous forest cropping.

Mostly White Pine
The 1957 cut was principally white pine. The cut will be used by the parks division of the conservation department. Other cuts had been made of aspen box bolts for a local cheese box factory. One cut of basswood was used to make venter blinds.

The fastest growing tree in the forest is red oak, according to H. F. Scholz, research forester of the Lake States Forest Experiment station. This tree grows at the rate of 12 per cent a year.

There's now an average of 5,900 board feet of saw timber per acre compared to 5,400 feet 10 years ago.

More Farmers Get Help in Conservation

Calumet County
Reports Increase

Chilton — Over 15 per cent of Calumet county farmers are now co-operating with the Soil Conservation service, according to the 1957 report made this week by Oscar Kossman, chairman of the SCD governing body.

A total of 248 farmers are now enrolled in the program, 31 more than a year ago.

Principal practices applied by soil conservation members in 1957 were: 690 acres of strip cropping; 98 acres of pasture renovation; 223 acres of reforestation; 515 rods of hedgerow planting; 1.5 miles of diversions; 1 mile of terracing; 25,000 feet of tiling; 10 1/2 miles of ditching and 8 miles of waterways.

Basic conservation plans were prepared for 26 farms during the year, bringing the total to 125, according to Bruno Zucollo, district soil conservationist.

The Agricultural Conservation program turned over $2,000 to the SCS for technical services provided to its farmer participants, the Wisconsin conservation department provided technical assistance on forestry and wildlife phases of the program, and the Farmers Home administration made available needed soil conservation loans.

"The major credit for the county's fine record belongs to the farmers in the district who till the land and make their own decisions as to what is to be done," Kossman said.

Supervisors of the Calumet County SCD, besides Kossman, are Art Weber, New Holstein, and Louis Hultregtse, Brillion.

Three Cows of Seymour Herd Complete Test

Seymour — The Holstein-Friesian Association of America has announced completion of outstanding official production records by three registered Holstein cows owned by the Meadowsweet Farms, route 3, Seymour, owned and operated by Hilmer G. Mueller and his son, Darrell.

Meadowsweet Homestead Fobes produced 15,372 pounds of milk and 557 pounds of butterfat in 365 days as a 3-year-old.

Meadowsweet Aggie Burke produced 14,472 pounds of milk and 543 pounds of butterfat at 7 years.

Meadowsweet Ormsby Comet Ann, at the age of 3 years has 14,141 pounds of milk and 550 pounds of butterfat to her credit in 354 days. All records made on a twice a day milking.

The University of Wisconsin is working in close cooperation with the national Holstein organization, supervised the weighing and testing of production as a part of the Herd Improvement registry program.

He said other meetings of this kind may be organized in the future.

Farm Bureau Calls Dairy Meeting at Hortonia Town Hall

Hortonia — Members of the Farm Bureau will meet at the Hortonia town hall at 1:30 Friday afternoon to discuss pending dairy legislation.

O. P. Cuff of the Outagamie county bureau has called the meeting to allow farmers to express their views on the bills and to have these views relayed to the Madison bureau office.

He said other meetings of this kind may be organized in the future.

Jap Dairyman Studies Calumet County Cheese

His Stay at Potter, Hilbert May Help in Adding American Product to Japanese Diet

BY PEG JENTINK

Brillion — In a few months many people of Japan are going to be eating a new type cheese. Japanese "American" cheddar.

Kogo Yusa, associate professor of the dairy college at Ebetsu, Hokkaido, Japan, is spending three months in this country learning the art of making American cheddar cheese and dairy spreads. He returns to Japan next month.

The professor is here as an industrialist trainee sent by the interboard committee for Christian work in Japan.

He is staying at the George Duchow home, Potter, and the Armin Hernke home, Hilbert.

The Duchows became acquainted with him when they were guests at his college while on an international missions tour a year ago. Hernke is the president of the Calumet Cheese company, Hilbert, where Yusa is studying. The two families are serving as sponsors for Yusa.

Reads Magazines — This is Prof. Yusa's first visit to America, but he said the ways and customs were not a surprise to him as he reads many monthly American magazines, especially about dairy farming. Our flat land seems unnatural to him for Japan is mountainous.

The Japanese people are aware of the value of cheese and dairy products in their diet, he said. However, it is not a main item in their diet because of the high cost of the products.

The average worker receives $2 a day, American money, or 720 yen for an 8-hour day. A compound of processed cheese costs about 300 yen and natural cheese 350 yen per pound. A pound of butter averages 320 yen.

In Japan, under law work is based on a 8-hour day and usually 6-day week. However, One of the main programs of Yusa was amazed how hard the Japanese government is the American works. The dairy farming It encourages American produces much more farming by aiding in the work in eight hours than does question of cows, other livestock and equipment and leads.

He explained, if a salesman in teaching modern practices.

enters a Japanese office he would be immediately offered tea and a lunch before proceeding with business matters.

He thoroughly agrees the American way is better for more work produced means higher wages which results in a higher standard of living.

Japan's Dairyland — He went on to explain that Japan consists of four islands with the northern island of Hokkaido the rich dairy land. Farms on the island average between 25 and 30 acres with a farmer owning an average of four cows. The land and farming methods is equal to that of Wisconsin and Minnesota except for the size. The average farm on one of the other three islands is about three acres with an average of two cows per farm.

The college of Ebetsu has its own milk and cheese factory where Yusa serves as the plant manager. Edam, processed and gouda are the types of cheese produced and are the most common in Japan. He was amazed at the many different kinds of dairy spreads made in this country.

Modern equipment and methods are used in Japan but only on a much smaller scale.

College Graduates — Seventy to 80 students graduate from the college in Ebetsu each year. About half of those students are sons of dairy farmers and enter that field. Many others enter the ministry and are replacing American teachers and missionaries of Christianity in Japan. Others enter government and industry.

Prof. Yusa feels that communism is not a threat in Japan as the majority of the people are not in favor of that type government. He stated there are only a few communist delegates.

gates out of 467 representatives based on a 8-hour day and usually 6-day week. However, One of the main programs of Yusa was amazed how hard the Japanese government is the American works. The dairy farming It encourages American produces much more farming by aiding in the work in eight hours than does question of cows, other livestock and equipment and leads.

He explained, if a salesman in teaching modern practices.

Officers Named By Ladies Aid

Shiocton — The officers of the Ladies Aid society of the First Congregational church include Mrs. Harry Strong, president. Mrs. Ralph Williams, first vice president; Mrs. Jack Coe, second vice president; Mrs. William Oaks, treasurer, and Mrs. Guy Sykes, secretary.

Mrs. George Jones, Mrs. Monroe Manley, Mrs. Louis Schwall and Mrs. Ella Allender are on the February serving committee.

Mrs. Des Steede, Mrs. Robert Hanks, Mrs. William Oaks and Miss Tena Cance made up the January serving committee.

Spokesman Reserves
Better Bill Appears

BY FRANCES MCKUSICK
Post-Crescent Washington Bureau
Washington — The National Farmer's Union will support the self-help dairy stabilization bill, introduced last week by Rep. Melvin R. Laird, a spokesman for the organization declared today.

John Baker, legislative officer for the Farmers' Union headquarters here, told this reporter that "no opposition" to the bill was anticipated at the present time, but that the union was "reserving its right to change its position" if, in its opinion, a better bill were introduced.

"In other words, we are supporting the Laird bill although neither it nor any other bill has our complete endorsement as yet," Baker explained, in showing the difference between "endorsement" and "support."

He added that the National Farmers' Union took the position that the Laird bill was a vast improvement over the current dairy program and that the main thing was to "get some legislation enacted which would encourage an increase in farm income."

Pure Milk Support
The Pure Milk Products cooperative, which has a membership of 16,000 dairy farmers in Wisconsin has given the Laird bill its "100 per cent endorsement," according to its president, Paul Affeldt.

Affeldt, who is visiting here in Washington, told this reporter that the cooperative enthusiastically supported the Laird bill, and hoped it would receive early passage.

George Ruppel, general manager of the Consolidated Badger cooperative, in Washington conferring on dairy legislation said his group was behind the Laird bill.

Also on record for the bill are the National Milk Producers and the National Grange.

A spokesman for the National Grange said it solidly supported the Laird bill, with minor exception that the Grange favors the provision that farm groups vote on the program by organization or group, instead of individually.

Last week, when Laird introduced the self-help bill, he said that he had insisted on inserting a provision which permitted individual dairy farmers to vote in the program in referendum, so that each farmer would be assured of a voice in the dairy program.

Today, four other Wisconsin congressmen introduced bills identical to Laird's: Reps. Don-ald E. Tewes, Waukesha; Lawrence H. Smith, Racine; William K. Van Pelt, Fond du Lac; and Gardner R. Withrow, La Crosse.

Vernon Wevers of the Freedom High school Future Farmers of America chapter won the junior oratorical contest at the Area 4 soil conservation meeting in Green Bay. He represented Outagamie county in competition with representatives from six other counties. His award is the engraved trophy and a chance to represent the area in the state contest at Madison in February. His topic was "Soil Conservation Is Everybody's Business." John Powers, county agent, Vernon Geiger, farm planner, Joseph Wevers, Tom Duffy and Harold Schmeickel, county board agriculture committee members attended the meeting from Outagamie county. Short Course Scholarships Offered in Utility Contest

Waupaca — Waupaca and Portage county youths interested in agriculture will have an opportunity to compete for scholarships to a short farm course at the University of Wisconsin in a contest sponsored by the Wisconsin Public Service corporation.

The purpose of the contest is to foster agricultural education and to encourage the study of labor and money-saving applications of electricity in farming.

Entrants in the contest must prepare an original essay of less than 1,500 words on a specific or related use of electricity on the farm. Entries must be delivered or mailed to the nearest local Public Service corporation office before midnight, March 31.

17 Years Old
Participants must be at least 17 years old by Nov. 17, 1958, and intend to pursue agriculture as a career.

The second prize is a $30 savings bond and the third place winner will receive a $25 bond. The short farm course at the university will begin Nov. 17, 1958, and last until March 14, 1959. The course offers training in soil management, production of feeds, breeding programs, effective marketing, maintenance of herds and equipment.

The County Agent Answers

What are the dates for Farm and Home week at the University of Wisconsin?

Farm and Home week will be held from Monday, Feb. 3 through Friday, Feb. 7. Programs will soon be available from the agricultural extension office for both home and farm programs.

What are recommendations of adequate lighting of a poultry house?

One 60 watt bulb per 200 square feet of floor space. Lights should be hung at a six foot height, five feet from the end wall and 10 feet apart. During the short winter days, it is essential to provide artificial light for the flock.

How can a boy or girl become a 4-H club member?

Any boy or girl between the ages of 10 and 21 can enroll in the 4-H club program. Contact Joe Walker, 4-H Club agent at the court house in Appleton, as to the location of the nearest club. If there are no clubs in the community, now is the time of year that clubs are being organized in areas where there is some interest. Last year, 773 boys and girls were members of 37 clubs in Outagamie county.

Should Phenothiazine be fed to cows for worm control?

Although some success has been experienced by the feeding of this drug to dairy cattle, it is not recommended for milk cows. The drug must be approved by the Pure Food and Drug administration before it can be fed to the milking herd. It may be fed to heifers not milking. However, trace mineral salt seems to do a satisfactory job and costs less than 3 cents per pound. The phenothiazine salt will cost about 12 cents per pound.

Calumet County Youth Eligible For Scholarship

Chilton — Any Calumet county youth, living in an area serviced by the Wisconsin Public Service corporation is eligible to win a $240 scholarship to the farm short course next fall.

Contestants must be at least 17 years of age by Nov. 17 and must write an essay of not more than 1,500 words on some phase of use of electricity on the farm.

A $50 and $25 U. S. savings bond will be awarded to second and third place winners.

Green Bay '9' Names Maes Business Head

Fred Cobb Picks Chairmen of Five Committees

Green Bay — P— The executive committee of the Green Bay Community Baseball association Tuesday night picked Al Maes 39, as business manager for Green Bay's new team in the Class B Three-I baseball league.

Maes played amateur baseball several years and was coached and managed American Legion junior baseball here for the past five years.

5 Chairmen Named
Fred Cobb, president of the association, named chairmen of five committees working on team problems. They are Fred Miller, finance; William J. Clancy, promotions and publicity; Russ Switzer, personnel and park; Harry Massey, business office, and Frank Cornelissen, legal committee.

A field manager has not been named for the club which will be a farm team of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Bob Rush Signs 1958 Contract

Hazle Rejects Braves' Initial Salary Offer

Milwaukee — P— Outfielder Bob Hazle of the world champion Milwaukee Braves doesn't like the terms he has been offered for 1958 and has returned his contract unsigned, he said Tuesday night.

But while Hazle figures on some more bargaining on one of Milwaukee's newest Braves, right-handed hurler Bob Rush has signed his contract and sent it back.

Obtained in a trade with the Chicago Cubs, the 32-year-old Rush attached a note to General Manager John Quinn saying he felt he would be an asset to the Braves and was confident 1958 would be his best season.

Rush had a 6-16 record and 4.39 earned run average last season.

It was Hazle who came out of the Braves' farm season early last summer and produced some sensational hitting that, after it faltered following a series of injuries, he finished with a .403 average in 41 games.

In a telephone interview from his home in Greenville, S. C., Hazle said, "We shouldn't be too far apart and I know we won't have any trouble when I come to Milwaukee next week to talk things over."

"I'm confident I can hit big league pitching," he said. "I feel I'm a solid .300 hitter."

Bob Roselli Signs

Milwaukee — P— Reserve catcher Bob Roselli Tuesday returned his signed contract to the Milwaukee Braves.

Robin Roberts Takes Salary Cut for '58

Philadelphia — P— Famed pitcher Robin Roberts has signed his 1958 contract with the Philadelphia Phillies and those in the know say he has taken a $7,500 cut from his estimated 1957 salary of $50,000.

Club owner Bob Carpenter, however, told newsmen after the signing that the right-handed pitcher would get the cut back if he has a good season.

Newsmen wanted to know who would make this decision. "I'll leave it up to Robbie," Carpenter said. "He has always been fair with me."

Roberts, who added to a 10-22 won-lost record last season, seemed satisfied with the arrangement.

"We'll wait until that part comes up," Roberts said grinning at his boss. "The main idea is for me to start winning. I'm still making good money and doing what I want to do." He added that he came to terms quickly with Carpenter.

Basilio-Robinson Ringside Seats Will Cost $40

Chicago — P— The championship fight between middleweight titleholder Carmen Basilio and challenger Ray Robinson has been scaled to a top of $40 for ringside seats at the promoting International Boxing club.

The IBC Tuesday announced prices will range from $40 to $5 with an expected gross sale of $360,465 and a net $407,033,971 based on attendance of 19,000 at the March 25 bout.

These figures could be exceeded, however, since the Chicago stadium can seat 19,535 and take in several thousand starlets.

Golf Test Postponed

Bavasi Says Spahn Doesn't Have Right to Talk About LA Fences

Brooklyn — P— The Los Angeles Dodgers, who have been battling over real estate—especially a place to play—are now embroiled in their first baseball fight of the year and that involves their leftfield fence and foul line.

Warren Spahn, Milwaukee Braves leftfielder, and former Braves hurler Johnny Antonelli, now of the San Francisco Giants, were among pitchers who took pokes at the 250-foot leftfield fence in the Los Angeles Coliseum.

Spahn and Antonelli were joined by Bob Friend of Pittsburgh and other stars, past and present, said baseball was turning into a "hitters' paradise and pitchers' nightmare."

Look Who's Squawking

The first to swing back verbally was Dodger vice president "Buzz" Bavasi, who said Tuesday "Look who's doing the squawking. Antonelli and Spahn. Why Antonelli lost 16 games last year and he's making excuses should be lost another 16 this season. He's a ready negotiating for next year's contract.

"Spahn is another guy to talk, isn't he? There's a guy who's pitched only about three innings in two years against us. He wouldn't know Gil Hodges or Roy Campanella if he met them on the street."

Same as Polo Grounds

Bavasi was here with Dodger President Walter O'Malley for Sunday's annual dinner of the New York Chapter of the Baseball Writers' Association and soon O'Malley had joined him in the debate.

Cousy Leads East 'Stars to Victory

Western Pro Team Squanders 10-Point Margin Before 12,854

St. Louis — P— This one gave me more satisfaction than any All-Star victory the East has ever won.

Boston's "Red" Auerbach was talking and the old pro of his Boston Celtics, Bob Cousy, smiled and nodded.

"This one," Auerbach said, "was in St. Louis. We would rather win here than anywhere."

The favored East team, 10 points down early in the last half, battled back and won going away Tuesday night, 130-118, with Cousy dazzling.

Pettit Scores

They did it despite an all-out effort by Bob Pettit, the St. Louis Hawks star, who set NBA All-Star records with 28 points and 26 rebounds. And they did it despite a partisan St. Louis arena crowd of 12,854, which gave Auerbach and his Celtics a strong booing.

Pettit's performance earned him the most valuable player award for the second time. Cousy, himself a 2-time winner of the honors had 20 points and 10 assists and was second in the voting.

Auerbach said he couldn't pick a turning point. "We just began hitting and they weren't," he said.

West coach Alex Hannum was downcast but praised the efforts of his West all-stars.

"I felt mighty sick when I saw Bobby (Pettit) on the floor after Slater Martin had gone out," Alex said.

Pettit suffered a slight knee sprain. Martin had what physicians termed a torn muscle fibre. It may keep him out for a while.

ence told the game's story as Cousy and veteran Paul Arizin of Philadelphia, a 24-point scorer, led the way.

Taylor, Nitschke Join Packers

Fullbacks Played on Opposite Sides in 2 All-Star Tilts

Green Bay — P— Coach Ray McLean of the Green Bay Packers announced Tuesday night the signing of two fullbacks who played on opposing sides in both the North-South and Senior bowl college all-star games.

Jim Taylor of Louisiana State was the Packers' No. 2 choice in the latest National Football league draft of college players.

Ray Nitschke of Illinois was picked by the New York Giants in the third round, but was given to the Packers to complete a trade that began last year when the giants got Green Bay and John Marinkovic.

Taylor led the Southeastern conference in rushing last season with 760 yards and topped the league's scoring with 86 points.

Nitschke was signed by the Packers for his skill as a line-backer, but he also is a fine ball carrier. He carried 79 times for Illinois last season, netting 514 yards for an average carry of 6.5 yards.

Both players are 22 years old. Taylor weighs 205 pounds. Nitschke, 220.

Neenah — The Mid-Eastern conference will feature the No. 1 game in the state Friday night when top-rated Shawano and Neenah (ranked No. 3) collide at Shawano with undisputed possession of first place at stake.

Other Friday night games are these: Two Rivers at Menasha, New London at Clintonville and Kimberly at Kaukauna. The quartet of games closes the first half of the schedule.

Six of the eight clubs will return to action Saturday night to open second round play. Neenah travels to Clintonville. New London will be at Shawano and Two Rivers jaunts to Kaukauna. Menasha and Kimberly will play their game at the Bluejay court Tuesday evening.

Records on Line

The boys who tabulate the records will have a field day after the Neenah-Shawano fracas determining what records have been broken and those that have been extended for both teams hold a string of marks going into the struggle.

Both have 11 straight victories for the current season's efforts, six in conference play and the other five a gainst outside teams. The Indians boast a skein of 21 straight wins over the last two seasons and they have won 45 of 47 in the last 2 campaigns. Two Rivers dealt them the last defeat in conference play last February.

19 Straight Wins

Neenah athletes also boast quite an achievement. Rocket varsity teams have been unbeaten since the current school term began last September. They have 19 straight triumphs, including eight by the football squad.

The Indians and Rockets both have turned back the other six league teams. In non-loop play, Neenah topped Janesville, Appleton, Wisconsin Rapids, Ripon and Fond du Lac. Shawano bested Marinette twice, Marshfield, Antigo and West De Pere.

Neenah's widest margin of victory in league play came in the 67-34 tilt at Menasha and its narrowest spread was in the 57-55 edging of Two Rivers. The Indians' tightest squeeze was 74-62 over Menasha and the widest 84-25 against Clintonville.

Height Advantage

Shawano with 6-5; Norm Ostropinski, 6-3 Paul Tumm and 6-1 Marty Gharrity in the front line will boast a height advantage. Fred Seggelink (6-3) and Gene Gries (6-2) are the tallest Neenah boys.

Neenah owns the better defensive average, 47.3 points to 49, while Shawano has scored an average of 75.3 points per test to 66 for Neenah.

Two Rivers will attempt to keep its fading hopes alive when it takes on Menasha. The Bluejays have a string of three straight losses since play resumed after the holidays.

Kimberly needs a win over Kaukauna to maintain undisputed possession of third place. The upstart Ghosts, probably the loop's most improved team, have two straight wins.

The cellar will be occupied by a single resident after the Clintonville - New London game since both are winless in six starts.

In first round games between Saturday's foes Neenah downed Clintonville 61-58. Two Rivers topped Kaukauna 62-44 and Shawano won over New London 59-27. Kimberly turned back Menasha 74-51.

Tom O'Connell Will Coach At Illinois

Champaign, Ill. — P— Tommy O'Connell, Cleveland Browns' quarterback and top National Football league passer last season, Tuesday accepted the backfield coaching position at the University of Illinois.

The appointment of O'Connell, 27, former star Illini quarterback, was announced by Athletic Director Doug Mills.

O'Connell, who lives in Chicago Heights, Ill., will replace "Chuck" Purvis, who left the Illinois staff to become backfield coach at Baylor.

Reedsville at Omro.
Wrightstown at Shiocton.

Reedsville — Reedsville's slow-down tactics bothered Hortonville for a half here Tuesday night but then the Polar Bears got straightened around and posted a convincing 52-24 Little Nine conference basketball victory.

The league-leading visitors were achieving their ninth straight conference win and their twelfth in 12 starts, overall.

With the score tied, 17-17, at the end of the half, the winners' Jim Steffen hit a pair of early third period fielders to put the Bears ahead for good. Hortonville then went into a keep-away game of its own and made it work for good shots. Jim Steffen's 18 points led the winners.

Schwandt Scores 25

Denmark — Forward Charlie Schwandt scored 25 of Shiocton's 37 points here Tuesday night but the 1-man effort wasn't anywhere near enough as Denmark High copped a 55-37 Little Nine conference basketball win.

The victory kept the Vikings alone in second place in the circuit race, behind pack-pacing Hortonville.

The Vikings trotted off to a 16-4 first quarter lead and never trailed though the Chiefs held them to a 20-20 standoff in a ragged second half. Dave

NL's 1958 Schedule Being Revised

Cincinnati — The National league has thrown out its current schedule of 1958 baseball games because of 16 changes by the Los Angeles Dodgers and plans to submit new dates to members next Saturday.

Dave Grote, head of the league's service bureau, announced plans for revisions Tuesday and said the present schedule is obsolete.

He said a revised schedule will be submitted to National league members this weekend in New York. It may be two weeks before the new schedule is ready, he said.

Grote said the changes came after Los Angeles picked the Coliseum for its home games, and said the intense summer heat in southern California was a factor in changing playing dates and the number of night and Sunday games.

'Buck' Edinger Leads EWA's Scoring Parade

New Holstein — Brillion's "Buck" Edinger, with a 22.1 point average, is leading the Eastern Wisconsin Amateur Basketball league in scoring.

Kiel's Fritz Reil is second, with 20.2 points for the 10 league games played to date.

Menasha Frosh
Duel Kimberly
For 1st Place

Unbeaten Leaders
Clash Thursday on Papermaker Court

FOX VALLEY FRESHMAN LEAGUE

Menasha	5	0	Roosevelt	2	1
Kimberly	3	0	McKinley	2	1
Kaukauna	2	0	Neenah	1	0
Wilson	2	0

Two teams which have compiled amazingly similar records against the same five opponents clash Thursday afternoon for first place in the Fox Valley Freshman basketball league.

Kimberly's freshmen will have the home floor advantage and a slightly better defensive record going for them when they entertain Menasha's Junior Bluejays in a battle of unbeaten quintets.

It is the only meeting of this season between the clubs which lead third - ranking Kaukauna and Wilson by three full games. Menasha has a record of 261 points (52.2 per game) while Kimberly has tallied four less, 257 (51.4 per contest). Menasha has yielded 167 (or 33.4 per tilt) to Kimberly's 161 (or 32.2 per contest).

Both have met and defeated the loop's other five members in the same order. Menasha's closest game was a 35-26 win over Wilson two weeks ago. The Junior Papermakers' tightest was a 57-51 triumph over Roosevelt.

Wilson and Kaukauna, which still have mathematical chances for the title, play in a third place battle at Kaukauna. Either McKinley or Neenah will climb out of a last place tie after their contest at Neenah.

PCC Will Again
Study Financial Aids March 14-16

Los Angeles — The troubled Pacific Coast conference will examine new possible cures for an old headache—financial aid to athletes—at a San Francisco meeting March 14-16.

Announcing the dates Tuesday, Commissioner Victor O. Schmidt said faculty athletic representatives and athletic directors will attempt to formulate a new program which would take effect Sept. 7.

Prof. Donald Wollett of the University of Washington heads a committee assigned to draft a 3-point program.

Washington, California. UCLA and Southern California have drawn penalties from the conference for providing illegal aid to athletes. These penalties contributed to the decision of California, UCLA and Southern California to leave the conference. Southern Cal may withdraw after next July 1 and UCLA and Cal after July 1, 1959.

Rivera, Francona
Sign '58 Contracts

Chicago — Veteran Jim Rivera and newcomer Tim Francona, both outfielders, have signed their 1958 contracts. The Chicago White Sox announced today.

The Sox now have 13 players in the fold.

Rivera, starting his seventh season with the club, batted .256 last year, hit 14 homers and stole 18 bases.

Francona, 24, was obtained in a player deal with Baltimore last month. He batted .233 in 97 games for the Orioles.

Team Parley Paved Way for Win Over MSU, Says Foster

Madison — Coach "Bud" Foster of the Michigan State basketball team said the team's victory over Wisconsin State was a result of the team's parley in the game.

Dick Driessen
Hits 207 Game

Little Chute — Dick Driessen hit a 207 game and Dick Lancour had a 350 series for the high scores in the Tri-City league at the Recreation alleys.

Gene's Bar hit the high team game with a 959 mark while Lefty's Bar had the high series with a 2,817 total.

Lefty's Bar is in first place in the league with a 32-19 record while Gene's is second, two games out. Cease's DX Service is third, two games out of second.

In the only other honor count Stan Welhouse hit a 526 series.

Yanks' Ticket
Sales Might Set Record

New York — Now that the Dodgers and Giants have flown the coop, the New York Yankees figure to have a full house this season, maybe even hitting two million in Yankee stadium attendance.

Jack White, head of the ticket sales department, said today his staff already has filled as many orders as it had by opening day in 1957. The advance sale represents about 1 1/2 million dollars.

As best as could be determined, the all-time record for Yankee advance sales was $1,700,000 in 1956. This time it could hit $2,000,000.

Arcade Team in First Place Lead

Little Chute — Harry's Arcade team continues to pace the Arcade Ladies league although the squad dropped two games in the last round.

Hammen's Lower Cliff Bar pushed a game closer to the league leaders due to the double win. The Arcade team leads with a 32-13 record while Hammen's trails by six games.

Hammen's posted the high team scores with a one game total of 718 and series high of 1,908.

No honor counts were recorded in the league.

Chess Finals and Checkers on Agenda For This Week

Finals in the chess tournament and the entire checker tourney are on the Thursday night agenda in the YMCA Industrial Olympics.

Kimberly Mill took over the Olympics lead last week, scoring 230 points to total 380 points for the year. Lakeview moved from ninth place to third.

Lakeview's Win Day captured the volleyball crown by defeating Kimberly's Jim Kilsdonk in the finals, 15-5 and 15-8. Day had beaten Bergstrom's Gerald Beckeron (15-6, 15-6) and Marathion's Cal Duester (9-15, 15-13, 15-8) on his way to the crown.

Marathon's Paul Doering and Lakeview's Jim Coley tied for first in the 20-yard swimming free style with times of 10 seconds flat. Dennis Daniel of Kimberly was second and Mel Diener of Bergstrom was third.

The Institute team won the 80-yard swimming relay with a clocking of 41.1. Swimmers were Myers, Carrol, McDonald and Weber. Kimberly was second and Lakeview was third.

Canadian '57
Newsprint Down
1.1 Per Cent

Montreal — Output of Canada's 42 newsprint mills fell to 6,386,114 tons in 1957, a decrease of 1.1 per cent from the record output of 6,468,815 tons in 1956.

Newsprint production per working day averaged 20,614 tons in 1957, a decline of 1.3 per cent from the preceding year, while the operating rate fell to 94.7 per cent of capacity from 103.6 per cent in 1956.

Total shipments at 6,363,734 tons were 1.3 per cent below 1956. Exports to the United States, at 5,048,863 tons, dropped 3.5 per cent.

Estimated U. S. newsprint consumption in 1957 at 6,865,466 tons was 0.5 per cent less than in 1956. On the other hand, U. S. production expanded by 6.3 per cent to 1,825,897 tons. The U. S. is the biggest market for Canadian newsprint. In 1957, for example, 78 per cent of its newsprint requirements were obtained from Canada.

Canadian newsprint production in December fell to 434,882 tons, a decline of 13.8 per cent from November and 15.4 per cent less than in December, 1956. A factor in the drop in December, 1957, output was the loss of production from four West Coast mills which have been strike-bound since Nov. 14, 1957.

Darboy League

Darboy — Norm Lietz slammed a 229 game and Al Lietz hit a 584 series to share honors in the Darboy Bowling league.

S and B alleys. Team honors went to Kirk and Gosz with a 976 game and a 2,798 series.

Kirk and Gosz won three games to hold the league lead with a record of nine wins and no defeats. Other high individual scores were rolled by Clarence Lemmers, 223, 340; Al Lietz, 209; Don Coon, 208, 539; Norm Lietz, 578; Norm Kirk, 200, 530 and Mark Emmers, 219, 382.

Irregularity
After Gains

Easing of Credit Brings Advances In Early Trading

New York — Wall Street greeted the latest credit-easing moves with a short burst of enthusiasm today, then the stock market lapsed into irregularity.

Key stocks showed a mixture of gains and losses running from fractions to around a point.

The market was slightly higher after overnight news that the discount rate had been cut to 2 1/2 per cent from 3 per cent by the Federal Reserve Bank and that leading banks had reduced their prime lending rates to 4 per cent from 4 1/2 per cent.

The drop in the discount rate, accompanied by its logical sequence of a lower prime rate, has been among the credit-easing moves that financial quarters have predicted and urged for some time.

Utilities, tobaccos, distillers, chemicals, rubbers and radio-televisions were generally higher. Oils, nonferrous metals, farm implements, aircrafts and motors showed a lower tendency. Steels and rails were mixed.

Fractional gains were made by Liggett & Myers, Lorillard, U. S. Steel, Chrysler, Goodrich, Union Carbide, United Air Lines, National Distillers and U. S. Gypsum.

Slightly lower were Youngstown Sheet, Caterpillar, Boeing, Phelps Dodge, American Cyanamid and International Nickel.

U S government bonds improved.

Status of Payer Affects Rate; Joint Return Often Best

BY G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Newsfeatures Writer

We've seen how you can save money by picking the right form on which to file your income tax return. In the same way, you can save money by correctly choosing the taxpayer class into which you fall.

Basically there are four classes of returns:

1. The separate return.
2. The joint return.

3. The special joint return for certain recent widows and widowers.

4. The special "head of household" return for certain single persons or those legally separated from their husbands or wives.

Joint Return Advantages

The separate return is for single taxpayers or those married taxpayers who prefer to file individual returns. In practically all cases married couples do better by filing a joint return. However, they must file separate returns if:

1. Either the husband or wife was a nonresident alien at any time of the year.
2. Husband and wife use different tax years. The husband, for instance, may report on a fiscal year basis such as from July 1 to June 30, while the wife pays taxes on a calendar year basis.

Third of Series

3. The husband and wife became divorced or legally separated at any time of the year up to and including Dec. 31.

If the separate return is used each individual must report his own income and list his own exemptions and deductions.

Both Must Earn

If husband and wife file separate returns, both must have income under the laws of their state. Many states have community property laws where the wife has half the family income even though she earns nothing herself. In these states, where expenses are paid from community income, the deductions may be split equally between man and wife. In all cases where husband and wife file separate returns, if one itemizes the deductions, the other must also itemize.

If you file separately you may use either the form 1040 or the 1040A, depending on how you qualify as outlined in the previous article.

There are normally just two situations in which married couples can benefit by filing separately instead of jointly. Both are comparatively rare.

If both husband and wife are working, and both had capital losses of $1,000 or more, it might pay them to file separately. The law provides that no more than $1,000 in capital losses may be deducted on any one return. By filing separately, they could get a total deduction of $2,000.

Medical Expenses

The second situation involves medical expenses. Suppose that the husband had an adjusted gross income of $10,000 and no medical bills, and that the wife had an adjusted gross income of $5,000, with medical bills of $500.

The law provides that you can deduct only those medical and dental costs which exceed 3 percent of your adjusted gross income.

If this couple filed jointly they would be able to deduct only everything over $450 (3 percent of their combined $15,000), or a deduction of $50. However, if the wife filed separately, she could deduct everything over $150 (3 percent of her $5,000), or a deduction of $350.

Even so, in practically every case the advantages of splitting income with a joint return outweigh any savings made by separate reporting of medical and dental deductions.

Dual Income

A husband and wife may file a joint return and get the advantage of the lower tax rates even if one of them had no income during the year. Both husband and wife must sign the joint return, and it must include all the income earned by both of them. You can file a joint return if you were married any time during the year, and remained married for the balance of the year.

Providing that your spouse died at any time during 1955 or 1956, you get this tax break if you have not remarried through the end of 1957; if you have, of course, you can file jointly with your new spouse; if you were entitled to file jointly with the deceased spouse at the time of death (he or she was not a nonresident alien; and

Since that death you have maintained a home which is the principal living place of a child or stepchild for whom you are entitled to claim a dependency exemption.

If your spouse died earlier than in 1955, you may still get a tax break if you qualify as a special "head of household."

This return, which can be made only on the form 1040, is for single, divorced or legally separated persons who maintain a household. It also applies to anyone married during 1957 to a nonresident alien.

If you qualify as a "head of household" your tax bill will be lower than if you filed separately. Your special rates will be found in schedule three on page 11 of the instruction booklet that comes with form 1040. You will note that they are lower than those in schedule one for single taxpayers.

Requirements Listed

These are the requirements you must meet:

1. You must maintain a home which is the principal residence of your unmarried child, stepchild or grandchild, even though not a dependent of yours, or any other relative whom you are entitled to claim as a dependent, or

2. You must pay more than half the cost of maintaining a separate household for your mother or father, if either qualifies as your dependent. The test here is whether you pay more than half the cost of keeping the home, including such things as mortgage interest, rent, taxes, insurance on the home and the like.

The next article will deal with exemptions, the biggest single tax-cutting device in the book.
